

BY-LAWS REPRESENT GREAT DEVELOPMENT

APPROPRIATIONS OF $335,000 ASKED

Citizens Will Record Their Opinions on Measures of Public Utility and Education

Friday of this week will resolve itself into a miniature election day in respect to the number of important issues that fall to be decided by the vote of the ratepayers on that particular occasion. The several by-laws which have been hanging fire as it were for some time past will be up for the consideration of the ratepayers, and as they are all of considerable importance to the welfare and development of the city along diversified lines it is likely that they will arouse a sufficient spirit of interest and enthusiasm to warrant their becoming law. For the benefit of those who are not conversant with the system of by-law voting which prevails in the city it may as well be stated that only those who are property owners, and whose names figure on the roll as such are entitled to record a vote for or against the measures, and as the successful passage of any or all of the by-laws is dependent upon their securing three-fifths of the total number of votes polled, the necessity for co-operative action will be made manifest.

The voting will take place in the market building as usual between the hours of 9 a. m. and 7 p. m., and W. W. Northcott, the city assessor and building inspector, will officiate as returning officer. The measures to be voted upon aggregate in value $335,000 and are as follows:

"The Songhees Park By-law, 1911," to provide the sum of $80,000 for the purchase of twelve acres, more or less, of the former Songhees reserve lying to the north of Esquimalt road, and facing on the waters of the Gorge for public park purposes.

"The Parks Loan By-law, 1911," to provide for the expenditure of $210,000 for playgrounds and park spaces in various parts of the city, and to make improvements to Beacon Hill park by asphaltting some of the roads therein. The localities in which it is proposed to secure the new playgrounds are located at or in the vicinity of Oscewa street, James Bay, Richardson street, Richmond avenue, Belmont street, Edmondson road, Oaklands, Smith's Hill reservoir, Burnside road, Skinner's Bottom, Victoria West, Foul Bay beach.

"By-law to amend the Public Library By-law, 1902," to provide for the increase in the annual amount for library maintenance from $5,000 to $25,000.

"The Dallas Road Foreshore Supplementary By-law, 1911," to provide for an additional amount of $45,000 to supplement the $75,000 voted last year for the construction of the sea wall protection scheme on Dallas road.

It will be recalled that the parks and library measures were defeated at the polls early in the year, and that they now owe their resubmission to the public spirited action of Mr. Justice Martin who undertook to guarantee the cost of resubmission, believing that their initial defeat was not so much due to opposition as to misunderstanding. In the interval of waiting both measures had been slightly changed but now they have been put back in their former shape. In accordance with the statutes which demands that any measure to be resubmitted must go before the people in the same form in which it met defeat. In regard to the parks by-law which calls for the sum of $210,000, it may be stated that the areas mentioned as suitable for purchase are merely approximate and do not represent any exact location or intention.

The library by-law, from a particular point of view, is regarded as of paramount importance. In fact it is claimed that if the measure does not receive the adequate support, the Carnegie library, as an educational institution of modern equipment and utility will cease to be. The present appropriation of $5,000 is hopelessly inadequate for the expenses of the institution if it is desired that it should develop in the same ratio as other civic institutions, and while it is admitted that the proposed maximum appropriation of $25,000 will not be required for perhaps a year or two, it is claimed that in order to have the institution free from further pecuniary embarrassments and open to the stimulus of outgrowing development, it is well to have its endowment fixed for several years ahead.

All the measures to be submitted on Friday have the support of the council and the hope is neither political nor parochial that each and all of them will be accorded that most of support which will float them over the barrier represented by public lethargy into the security of public responsibility.

SEEKS DAMAGES.

Vancouver, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Edith North has entered suit against Alderman Rogers for $1,200 damages for injuries received last spring when the ceiling of Mr. Rogers' building at the corner of Pender and Granville streets fell out upon the street.

REV. DR. WORKMAN WON FIRST ROUND

JUDGE'S DECISION
IN CHURCH QUARREL

How Case Reached the Civil Courts—An Appeal Has Been Taken

Victoria members and adherents of the Methodist church will be interested in the news dispatch in the Times stating that an appeal will be taken from the judgment of Mr. Justice Weir in the Recorder's court at Montreal which gave damages of $3,500 in favor of Rev. Dr. George C. Workman for wrongful dismissal from the faculty of Montreal Theological college. This suggests that the long, bitter and costly fight between the old school of theologians in the Methodist church of Canada and the newer element somewhat favorably inclined to exploit the more conservative deductions of "The Higher Criticism" is to be still further prolonged.

The history of the quarrel, for it is really an old time, medieval age religious quarrel, is interesting because it is localized all the forces of dogmatic theology on the one hand and all the sympathies of progressive and liberal conservative evangelical religious thought on the other. Rev. George C. Workman is one of the foremost scholars of the Methodist church in Canada and, perhaps, because of his accomplishments was one of the first Canadian theologians to take a deep and reverent interest in the work and researches of the school of higher critics in Germany. While he was in the pastorate and before he became a professor of theology in the faculty of Victoria College (Methodist) at Toronto, his preaching attracted attention owing to its breadth of thought and the rational solution of many metaphysical problems in theology.

His appointment to the faculty of Victoria University was violently opposed by the reactionary section of the church to which he belonged, and it was not long before his liberal views, finding expression in the classroom in advice to the students to approach debatable questions with an open mind, brought him into disfavor, and certain teachings respecting the doctrine of the atonement, particularly in his assertion that the atonement as taught in the Scriptures is not to be understood as being propitiatory but wholly manward and reconciling, in its efficacy, brought him to trial for heresy, and his subsequent suspension was ordered by the trial board.

TOURIST TRAFFIC WILL INCREASE

C. P. R. is Preparing to Provide Additional Facilities
—Next Summer—

Vancouver, Nov. 14.—There will be an enormous increase in passenger traffic, especially of tourists, over the C. P. R. next year, according to C. E. E. Usher, passenger traffic manager of the company, who is here on an official trip of inspection. This is Mr. Usher's first trip to the coast since his promotion and transfer from Winnipeg to the head office in Montreal. He will visit Victoria, Seattle, Tacoma and Portland and on his way east will get in touch with traffic conditions in various cities in the prairie provinces.

"The C. P. R. is now working out plans for providing facilities for the increased business it expects to handle next year. The proposed service provides for a larger number of through passenger trains than are now being run. Even during the coming winter we will be operating virtually the same service that prevailed all summer," he said.

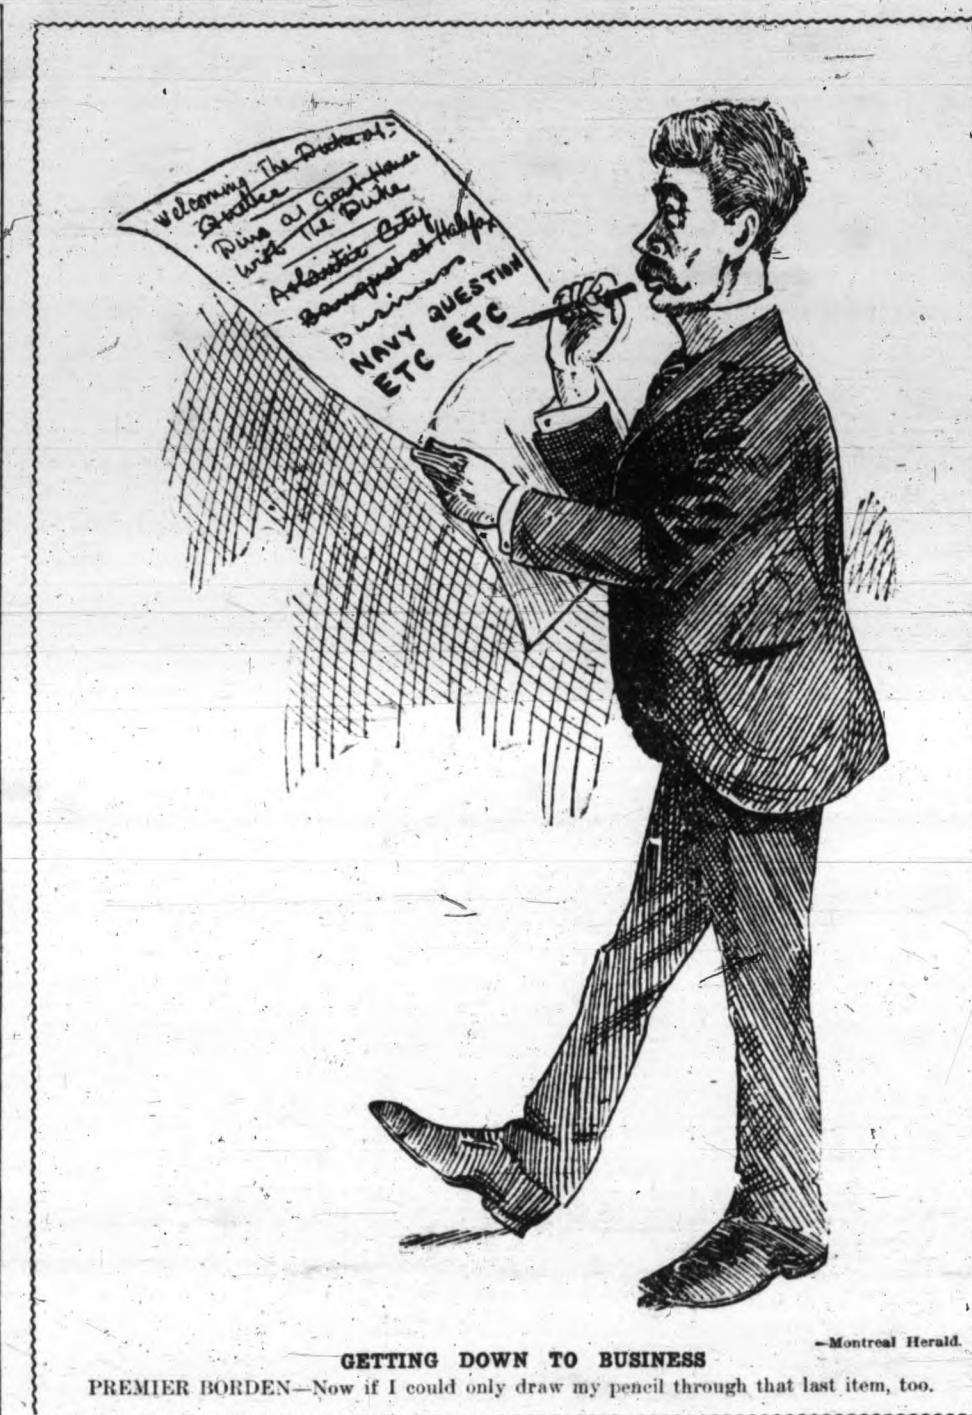

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Toronto, Nov. 14.—After a jury had found him guilty of manslaughter by the death of his wife, the court asked Edward Wilkie if he had anything to say. "Well," said the prisoner, "all I can say is I am sorry it was not my fault she died." The judge said he would remember this speech in sentencing Wilkie. The prisoner slept in the dock during the hearing of the case.

SHOOTS HIMSELF.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 14.—With a bullet wound in his right temple, G. W. Tombs, aged 19, a red head, in the branch of the Bank of Montreal at Lunenburg, was found dead at 6 o'clock last evening in the teller's box. A revolver lay just out of reach of his right hand. The body was discovered by the accountant, who was upstairs when the shot was fired. Tombs left an unfinished note which said: "Farewell. I have tried to make good and failed. I do not lay the blame for my misdeeds on —."

Tombs belonged to Charlottetown. He sang two solos in the Anglican church Sunday.

CROWN WITNESS HAS DISAPPEARED

ANOTHER DELAY IN THE CAVANAUGH CASE

Accusations and Counter Accusations Made at Hearing
—Vancouver—

Vancouver, Nov. 14.—The second stage in the Cavanaugh case, heard before Judge McInnes yesterday afternoon, was replete with accusations and counter accusations. The principal witnesses were Graham Campbell, a brother of the second Mrs. Cavanaugh, and her nephew, Ralph Munger.

In cross-examination by Mr. Powell, Mr. Campbell repeated a statement admitted by his brother on Saturday that they had threatened to charge Mr. Cavanaugh with the murder of their mother, who died suddenly. Graham Campbell also asserted that a reputable barrister had bribed his nephew to steal from him letters that were wanted in the civil suit of Campbell vs. Campbell. Accused is charged with bribery.

Mr. McKay, crown counsel, stated that all his witnesses had been heard with the exception of the second Mrs. Cavanaugh, whose whereabouts they were unable to find. They had inquired in New Westminster and had also telephoned to the police in Seattle and were awaiting a reply.

By suggestion of the court, the further hearing of the case was adjourned till Friday next at 2 p. m., though a short session will be held this morning to hear the medical evidence of Dr. Ernest Hall on the state of Mr. Cavanaugh's health when he left the country before meeting Miss Campbell in the south.

The first Mrs. Cavanaugh was called and asked if her husband had known she was alive during the many years they had lived apart. She replied that he must have known, since she had been served with a notice of a divorce action from him.

Graham Campbell said he was a brother of Lillian N. Campbell, and when she left the United States in 1908 he clearly understood that it was with the intention of being married to Cavanaugh.

RAILWAYS RUSH CONSTRUCTION WORK

G. T. P. ENTERS B. C.
FROM THE EAST

Keen Rivalry Between Employees of Two Transcontinental Roads

Edmonton, Nov. 14.—When track-laying ended Saturday night on G.T.P. west of Edmonton, steel was within three miles of British Columbia boundary. The Canadian Northern has men at work also through the British Columbia boundary line. Keen rivalry exists between the construction gangs of the two transcontinental railroads.

Howard Douglas, Dominion park commissioner, has returned to Edmonton from a trip west to the Jasper Park. He reports completion of trail to Fiddle Creek Hot Springs from Mile 88, the location of Jasper Park. The trail is about fourteen miles in length. These hot springs, which will be directly accessible next season, are several degrees hotter than the famous hot springs at Banff. The Grand Trunk Pacific has planned the construction of a tourist hotel next year at a point not far distant from the hot springs.

Fiddle Creek last Friday afternoon was the scene of a peculiar occurrence due to the sudden advent of cold weather. Somewhere up in the big canyon an ice jam occurred. The water was held back for half a day and the creek below ran dry. When the jam burst water poured down the creek bed in a raging torrent. The creek, which ordinarily is not more than fifty feet in width, became a river in volume. A team crossing the creek not far from the railway track and drawing a wagon loaded with $600 worth of groceries was caught by the rush of water, the wagon being stuck in the creek bed. The horses, wagon and load of supplies were swept down stream, and destroyed. The driver, who heard the roar of the approaching water, left the team and escaped.

DEVELOPING COAL MINES ON ISLAND

EXTENSIVE OPERATIONS
NOW IN PROGRESS

Canadian Collieries Will Expend
$1,600,000 in Cumberland Coalfield

Vancouver, Nov. 14.—The Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Limited, will expend $1,600,000 in new equipment and other improvements during the next twelve months in its Cumberland coalfield on Vancouver Island. Work is now under way. Messrs. Grant Smith & Co. have just been awarded a contract for developing a water-power at a cost of $500,000 for furnishing electrical power for running the mines and operating the company's railroad from Cumberland to Union Bay. It is proposed to develop 12,000 horsepower hydraulically, fifty per cent. of which will be mechanically developed, leaving the remainder in reserve for future requirements. The firm has 150 men at work there.

W. L. Coulson, general manager of the Dunsmuir Collieries, which are now controlled by Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann is now here. He stated that the sinking of a 800-foot shaft in the Cumberland field has just been started. In six weeks employment will be added to about 150 additional men and the payroll there will be increased to an additional $50 within twelve months. The developments now under way will open up a new coal mine which will be connected with the company's railway by a proposed seven-mile spur, construction of which will be undertaken shortly. This programme of improvements will cost about $700,000.

Mr. Coulson stated that the company's relations with its miners are of the most cordial character, and that the total output in the Cumberland and Extension fields has reached between 3,500 and 4,000 tons daily, an increase of over ten per cent. during the past year. The demand, however, still exceeds the supply. The production will be greatly increased with the big improvements now under way.

RICH BEACH SAND.

Nome, Alaska, Nov. 14.—The heavy surf which accompanied last week's storm, washed out four feet of beach sand, exposing thousands of dollars' worth of abandoned machinery. Miners are sacking the sand, which runs from twelve to twenty-five dollars a ton when put through the mill, and many rich stakes are anticipated.

CARRYING WESTERN GRAIN TO ELEVATORS

Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Northern Trains Are Heavily Loaded

Winnipeg, Nov. 14.—A considerable quantity of grain is being shipped every day by the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Northern railways from the west to their elevators at Fort William and Port Arthur. Each of the trains are heavily loaded, having as much as from 35 to 50 box cars on each.

The Canadian Northern has up to the present time marketed 28,000,000 bushels of this year's grain, which is very much in excess of last year. The number of cars of grain delivered by the railway company to the Port Arthur elevators this season amounts to 17,300.

The amount of grain delivered to the Fort William elevators this season by the G. T. P. is very much in excess of what it was in 1910, but the total number is not yet available.

THREE MEN INJURED.

Vancouver, Nov. 14.—As a result of the heavy snowfall of last week-end and Sunday a number of serious accidents have been reported.

The worst sufferer would appear to be E. Champet, conductor of the B. C. E. R. Company's snowplough, which was being operated on the Granville street bridge on Sunday morning. The plough left the track near the draw, and Champet was thrown to the ground. His leg was broken and some of his ribs fractured. He was removed to the general hospital for treatment.

W. Thielbald, of 515 Barnard street, broke his ankle by falling on the sidewalk on Sunday morning and was taken to the hospital in the police ambulance.

A third victim was A. Culford, of 619 Hastings street west, who is suffering from a broken shoulder as the result of a fall on the sidewalk on Sunday evening. He was also taken to the hospital for treatment.

TIMELY RESCUE OFF
CAPE DISAPPOINTMENT

Steam Schooner Washington Is Towed to Astoria by the Tatoosh

Astoria, Ore., Nov. 14.—Another miracle of the sea was added to an already long list yesterday as the sun was sinking when the bar tug Tatoosh of the Puget Sound Tugboat Company saved the Olsen & Mahoney steam schooner Washington with forty-eight souls aboard from the breakers off Cape Disappointment.

Towed into port by the tug that saved her from almost certain destruction, the Washington lies to-day at the dock, apparently little damaged by the terrific ordeal which she passed through for a period of practically thirty-four hours tossing and rearing on Peacock Spit, within shouting distance of the breakers.

With the exception of a smashed house and a missing port rail, the vessel cannot be distinguished from other craft of its kind in the harbor.

In her hold is about seven feet of water, but surveys report her hull intact. Pummelled and jostled about over a spit where there is ordinarily sixteen feet of water, and with a draft of 16 feet herself, the vessel happily escaped striking the bottom, seemingly being carried high on the wave crests.

The real reason for the Washington's plight may never be learned. One story is that seven great seas struck her and carried away a portion of her deckload of lumber and that in an instant the loosened chains and ropes that had bound the deckload down had been swept into the propeller and rudder chains.

Then she was left to the mercy of the waves. Great seas battered her, shaking her from end to end. Before wind and waves, she slowly drifted to the north, barely missing the rocks off Cape Disappointment, and finally drifting toward "Deadman's Hole," dropping anchor. Over the ship the combers swept beating her and shaking her from the time she struck Saturday night until she was pulled off yesterday.

At two o'clock yesterday the sturdy Tatoosh, which had been striving desperately to save the lives of forty-eight members of the Washington's crew and passengers, prepared for the last heroic attempt. Captain George Winkel, of the Washington, knew it to be the last stand. He gave out word to the crew that the last hope was either to be blighted or realized. Struggling with the pounding seas, the little tug drove nearer and nearer. The task seemed too great, but Captain Bailey and his brave crew were not daunted.

When their chance came they dodged close to the breakers, swung under the Washington's side, flung her a line and edged out to sea again. The work of sending her a hawser and pulling her off was then comparatively easy. "No one but the men on board the Washington will ever appreciate the bravery of Captain Bailey and his crew," said Captain Winkel to-day. "Their work was wonderful."

This is not altogether a story of heroism of the men who go down to sea in ships. Many of the passengers deserve credit for their bravery and willingness to help.

"The best lot of passengers in the world," said Captain Winkel to-day, "and the best crew in the world. Without these we could not have been saved," and the passengers without exception, praise the captain and his crew.

"It was 3 o'clock Sunday night when water in our hold put out the fires in the engine room," said the master. "We steamed up a donkey to handle the anchors. Almost immediately a steam-pipe burst and we put the crew and passengers at work handling the pumps."

"Every one of the passengers worked with a will."

Two women are among the heroes of the wreck. One is a little old German woman, Mrs. Mary Fullmer, of Lents, Ore., sixty-nine years old. Many and many a time during the hours when it seemed as if every minute would bring death, she cheered on the workers and kept up the hopes of the crew and passengers.

"I was not afraid," said Mrs. Fullmer. "I knew the great Redeemer would take care of us—and He did. He always does."

The other heroine is Mrs. B. F. Pangle, Yakima Valley. She was with her husband and never flinched when death stared them in the face.

The only life lost as a result of the wreck was the ship's cat, which was washed away when the deckload went by the board.

All day long the lumber-laden and passenger-carrying vessel had been buffeted about in the terrific seas which washed over her, helpless in the eyes of hundreds of spectators on the beach. The lifesaving crews stood on ways to launch their lifeboats, but to do much, would have been to court certain death.

BUZZ WAGONS PAY TITHE TO POLICE

Exchequer Swelled by $1,400
Since New Automobile Law
Has Been in Force

Since the new automobile act came into force last March, the police exchequer of the city of Victoria has benefited to the extent of about $1,200 collected in fines from those who were unable to prove that they had not been exceeding the limit.

About sixty cases have been before the police court in that time and in addition to these, which were for exceeding the speed limit, there have been a number of others in which the accused have been fined for driving automobiles on the wrong side of the road and without lights.

These fines swell the list considerably and will add another $200 to the speed fund which goes towards the maintenance of the city police force.

When the act first came into force there was considerable resistance given it by those who were charged and many were successful, through the force of the act and putting the police constable in leaving the court $20 in pocket. Those, however, who attempted to show by their word alone, without a speedometer, that they had travelled up hill but at a crawl paid fines.

Latterly resistance to the police testimony has become less and less, and in a majority of cases the defendants have pleaded guilty with explanations, and some without explanations. There is one noticeable thing about the enforcement of the act and that is that during the last few weeks there has been a decided falling off in automobile charges in the police court, and the police hold that automobilists find the maintenance of cars sufficient expense without the extras for fines for speeding, hence a moderate speed prevails and caution and care are exercised by the drivers of the buzz wagons.

During the period of appeals, hearing, retrials, and it is said by some of his sympathizers, persecutions, Dr. Workman wrote a book in which he clearly elucidated his views on the cardinal doctrines of the Scriptures respecting those eminent teachings upon which the evangelical system of the Methodist church claims to be founded.

The publication of the book created a profound sensation and divided the Methodist church into two schools, the one insisting on recantation and the other championing the liberal thought of the new theology. Those ministers who sympathized with the views expressed in Dr. Workman's book opened their pulpits and the others closed and locked them and, under the surface, the case of Dr. Workman was a cauldron of controversy that broke out annually in the conferences from ocean to ocean until his trial for heresy resulted in a vindication of his character as a pious and reverent student, but leaving the questions in dispute unsettled so far as a pronouncement on their orthodoxy or otherwise was concerned.

Dr. Workman was reinstated into full standing in the ministry of his church, but the matter of stationing him in his pastorate offering adequate scope for his talent and scholarship was difficult as there was, in every such church, a reactionary element that made prospective harmony impossible.

Recognizing the ability, integrity and scholarship of Dr. Workman, the trustees of the Montreal Theological College, a nominally Methodist institution governed by a board of trustees, whose appointments to the faculty must be approved by the conference in which the college claims membership, offered him the chair of theology in that college and he began his new work with his old time vigor and enthusiasm. His lectures to the students reaffirmed his former position that all questions such as the atonement, the divine and immaculate fatherhood of Jesus, the resurrection and several other cardinal points of doctrine, should be approached with open mind. A section of the students told tales out of school, carried their notes to the opponents of Dr. Workman, who began an agitation and brought such strong pressure to bear upon the trustees of the college that Dr. Workman was dismissed.

He sued the college for damages, claiming that his dismissal was unwarranted by any canon of reason and in view of what his reputation had already suffered at the hands of his church—had ruined his career. The trial was bitter, lasting over two weeks at Montreal before Mr. Justice Weir, who took an unusually active interest in the case, often asking the witnesses questions on abstract and metaphysical doctrine which perplexed the Doctors of the Sacred Law. In giving judgment, awarding damages of $3,500 against the trustees, Justice Weir made some strong comments on the attitude of some of the witnesses, including the strongest men in the old school of the church.

The case has been appealed and the war of the crusader is to continue.

FOUL ACT OVER A CRATE OF CHICKENS

Magistrate Jay Off for Holiday Dismisses Two Charges Prior to Leaving for the East.

What R. C. Lowe, solicitor, seriously described as a "foul act" in a chicken case, was dismissed by the magistrate in the police court this morning. The accused, a Sayde named Lehman, who was accused and acquitted in the Kirk coal theft case some months ago, was charged with stealing a crate of chickens, the property of Luke Pither. The evidence of a witness showed that Lehman had shipped a crate of chickens from Salt Spring Island, and that they had become mixed with some chickens shipped to Luke Pither. An exchange of crates resulted and Mr. Pither received Lehman's crate. Lehman received one of Mr. Pither's crates and then later claimed his own and sold it through a dealer. The crate originally believed to be Lehman's was sold to Mr. Pither, who therefore bought his own chickens. The mistake was caused by a mix-up on the part of the freight clerk. The foul act referred to by Mr. Lowe was the imprisonment of Lehman since Wednesday last. He was held in prison waiting the return of Magistrate Jay from Vancouver to try the case.

Magistrate Jay this morning ordered the release of the boy Joseph Smith who was charged with stealing money and a ring from a Chinese at the point of a revolver. The accused claimed a case of mistaken identity, and said the ring had been in his possession some months. The boy from whom he obtained it was communicated with and said he had given Smith the ring. G. J. Prior will occupy the police court bench for two weeks in place of Magistrate Jay, who goes east for two weeks.

CANADIAN AUTHORS.

Lecture by Associate Librarian Last Evening Was Well Attended.

Last evening at the schoolroom of the First Congregational church, Mr. Killum, associate provincial librarian, gave an interesting and comprehensive talk on Canadian "Authors." He spoke at considerable length on the question of including the press, magazines and journals in the category of literature. Some of the newspapers he believed were making worthy efforts to conform to the higher standards of the old world journalism.

Some of the periodicals and literature turned out by the Dominion government and various legislatures of interest to say geologists, botanists and those interested in agricultural topics and kindred subjects, were very well put up and would rank as specimens of good literature.

To illustrate Mr. Killum's lecture a number of readings were given from the authors discussed by the members of the society. C. Harworth read "White Waters," by Charles G. Roberts. The first chapter of "Sowing Seeds in Danny," by Nellie McClung, was read by W. I. Land. Mrs. Castleman gave a reading and Rev. H. A. Carson read two selections from the "Songs of the South" by Robert Service. Miss Reid read "E. Pauline John's" "The Song of the Paddle." Mrs. Collins was heard in a vocal solo and the Misses MacIntosh contributed a vocal duet. There was a good attendance and the evening was much enjoyed.

Early yesterday afternoon the gale subsided sufficiently to allow Captain Charles T. Bailey of the tug Tatoosh to creep in close enough to get a line aboard her. Picking up the slack the Tatoosh proceeded towards Astoria, followed by the crews of those who watched the rescue.

Captain Bailey when interviewed last night modestly disclaimed credit for the heroic action. He stated that he called his crew on deck, told them to attempt to get a line aboard the Washington to face almost certain death and asked if any man wished to be put ashore. Not a man flinched and the rescue followed.

Upon arrival here last night, the passengers of the Washington adopted a resolution eulogizing Captain Bailey and his crew.

But for the heroic Captain Bailey and the crew of the Tatoosh darkness probably would have spelled the fate of forty-eight persons who were on the Washington. Drifting helplessly all Sunday night and Monday, torn and rent by a terrible gale and beaten and pounded by angry seas, which all day carried her nearer and nearer to the fatal rocks, it seemed that no human agency could possibly save the Washington. To those on shore it appeared certain that the majority or perhaps all of the forty-eight persons on board would go down to death in the dark waters which beat against the rocks of North Head. For thirty-four hours, unable to make resistance, the Washington had been beaten and buffeted about, the plaything of the angry elements. All day long several tugboats hovered in the vicinity of the helpless vessel, unable because of the high seas and weather, to approach close enough to be of assistance, until the opportunity, when the Tatoosh, saw the opportunity, and took advantage of it.

Two United States life saving crews, patrolled the beach and rocky bluffs from Cape Disappointment to North Head, waiting for the Washington to drift close enough shoreward to permit a life saving tug to come over her. The sea calmed sufficiently to permit the lifeboats being launched, but opportunity was not had to use any of the life saving apparatus.

Sunk in the Columbia.

While coming down the river during the night on the way to San Francisco, the steam schooner Westerner disabled her steering gear and sheered. The oil tank steamer W. S. Porter was following close behind and before anything could be done to prevent it the Porter smashed into the Westerner, sinking her. The Westerner now lies in about sixteen feet of water. She is owned by the Olsen & Mahoney Company of San Francisco, owners of the steam schooner Washington, which narrowly escaped being wrecked near North Head yesterday.

ATTEMPTED JAIL BREAK.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 14.—That a wholesale jail delivery at the county jail where the McNamara brothers are confined was nipped in the bud through the vigilance of the jail guards is the opinion of the local authorities. An investigation begun when L. Pierson, a prisoner, awaiting trial for alleged felonious assault and robbery, was detected pouring a powerful acid on the bars of his cell door and which led to the discovery of a cache of pistols and other small arms in a discarded bucket at one end of the jail corridor, is responsible for their belief.

But a fraction of an inch on each of three bars separated Pierson from the corridor when his jailers, smelling what they believed to be sulphuric acid, caught him, dripper in hand, at work. Investigation showed that other prisoners in the jail had learned that a break was to be made and that Pierson, the ringleader, had planned to overpower his guard and with the latter's keys open the cells of the others. It was not learned where he obtained the acid or whence came the weapons found in the corridor.

In a statement Under Sheriff Robert Train, who conducted the investigation, said that he was convinced that the McNamara brothers knew nothing of the alleged plot.

Pierson was arrested in Chicago and brought here to await trial as one of a robber pair who struck down H. T. Reid, a diamond broker, in his office in the Grant building and robbed him of money and jewels amounting to $15,000.

COSSACKS ARE ON WAY TO PEKIN

Fifteen Hundred Ordered From Vladivostok—Suicide of General

London, Nov. 14.—A news dispatch from Tien Tsin says that acting on urgent orders 1,500 Cossacks left Vladivostok yesterday for Pekin.

General Kills Himself.

Hongkong, Nov. 14.—The viceroy of Nanking, who was reported to have been slain in an attempt to escape, has survived.

The Tartar general Chung Shu, it is rumored, has killed himself.

The revolutionist government in Canton is considering a proposal to subsidize all progressive newspapers.

Gathering Recruits.

Pekin, Nov. 14.—The National Assembly yesterday discussed the immediate opening of parliament, but decided it would be inadvisable. The matter was referred to a committee, which will confer with Yuan Shi Kai. The opinion is held at the legations that there are serious complications in store for China and greater sufferings than she has yet endured.

Prospects of foreign intervention by other powers than Russia and Japan are beginning to be discussed. Winter is expected to terminate the massed movement of troops, but there will be greater death rolls through famine, even in Chi Li province. The people in the central section are already supplementing their food supply with the bark of trees.

The government continues gathering Manchurian recruits at Pekin, but soon will be unable to meet the payments. It is not believed here that the Chinese can mobilize a large enough army about Pekin to venture an attack, but the government's liability to collect revenues from a single provincial capital is almost certain to bring about a capitulation.

A report reached here yesterday that 2,000 imperialists at Hankow have joined the rebel ranks, and that the remaining imperial gunboats at that port have gone over to the rebels.

According to a consular report the Hankow consuls, with one exception, at a recent meeting agreed that it is impossible for the imperialists to capture Hian Yan or Wu Chang. They therefore discussed the question of asking the government to withdraw the imperial troops to the north, because when the commissariat is empty, they are likely to commit depredations and endanger the foreign concessions.

Certain military attaches at Pekin consider that the imperial troops at Hankow will be lost to the government unless brought back immediately, but the government may prefer to leave all but the Manchus there, not undertaking the risk of transporting them back to the capital.

The American consul at Chung King, Albert W. Pontius, informs the legation that nearly 500 foreigners are making ready to leave Chung King for Shanghai. Of these 31 are Americans.

General Chao Erh Hsun, the viceroy of Manchuria, who has been elected president of the province under the declaration of autonomy, has sent a message to the government that he was unable to oppose the Mukden assembly's declarations which are:

First, that the revenue shall be retained by the province, which will have no connection with the Pekin government old or new; second, that the province will assist neither the Chinese nor the Manchurian soldiers; third, that the government will afford the fullest protection to foreigners.

HUNTER SHOT BY HIS COMPANION

Victim Succumbs to Injuries Sustained Through Accidental Discharge of Gun

Castle Rock, Wash., Nov. 14.—Arthur Wyant, one of the best known and highly respected young men in this country, was shot and fatally wounded by a companion while out hunting, death resulting two hours later.

The accident was caused by the companion's slipping and falling, causing his gun to be discharged, the bullet from the 30-30 rifle passing through the victim's arm and into the abdomen. Everything possible was done by large for his companion and one of the other members of the party was sent for a doctor.

Dr. Wolf, of this city, was called by phone, but before he reached the vicinity word was brought in by another member of the party that Wyant had expired.

The accident occurred about ten or twelve miles from Toutle, away up in the hills between the two forks of the Toutle river.

Wyant leaves beside his aged parents, a wife and child and several sisters and brothers.

ENDS HER LIFE.

Everett, Wash., Nov. 14.—Just as her mother arrived here from Oregon to what she could to aid her, Mrs. Letha Lamara, 15 years old, wife of Louis Lamara, committed suicide in the jail here. The girl had not been in jail more than 20 minutes when she died a piece of string such as the prisoners use for clothesline, around her neck, fastened the end to the door of her cell and leaped forward on the string, which strangled her. She was dead when attendants arrived. Lamara and his girl wife were arrested by the police November 2. Mrs. Harry Eaton, mother of the girl, arrived here Sunday from Oregon.

THINKING THEMES

BY DR. FRANK CRANE

One of the dreams in which I indulge is that of a good hotel. I have travelled a great deal East and West, and never saw one. Nevertheless, such a thing is possible. Some day, in some city of Heaven, if not on earth, I shall arrive at it. First, it will be clean, from the sidewalk in front to the coalhouse in the rear, all clean; table, cloth and napkins clean, food clean, floors clean. Then, it will be cordial; there will be a kindly, human landlord and a clerk that is not haughty; everybody about the place will act like he is glad to see you, and wants to do something to make you comfortable. Every room will have a bath. There will be oceans of hot water. There will be four times as many towels as you can use. There will be a telephone in every room, and when you ring up, someone will answer you right away in a pleasant voice. There will be a good library, containing nothing but Bertha M. Clay. When you are shown to your apartment, you will find a nice little wood fire, not to warm by, for there will be steam heat, but for the sake of comfort and hominess; the room will smell sweet and fresh and not stuffy; a little bunch of flowers and a new magazine will be on the table; there will be plenty of writing paper, envelopes, also pens that will write; and soap and wash rag that have never been used before, will be cleaned and pressed, and your shoes polished. Ice water and fruit in season will always be at hand—free. A morning paper, for you, will be on your breakfast table. The office and lobby will be cheerful, homey, full of easy chairs, carpeted, not barny and like a bar-room. You can smoke anywhere any time—and when you offer any employee a tip, he will tell you that he is paid enough, so that he does not need it. There will be no extras on your bill when you leave; that is, if you can ever make up your mind to leave. Lastly, there will be something to eat!

Last year it was 121,000, and this year it promises to reach 145,000. There never were so many inquiries. The reciprocity campaign and its result have proved a great advertisement for Canada.

TAFT AT WASHINGTON.

President of the United States completes his 15,000-mile trip.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—The White House is occupied again. The President arrived here on Sunday after his 15,000-mile trip. It was the President's first call there since August 22, excepting only for a stop between trains two weeks ago.

The President's third annual message is yet to be written, although data for it has been assembled.

In addition to writing his message, the President intends to give much consideration to the appointment of a successor to the late Supreme Court Justice Harlan and to the naming of men to fill other important judicial vacancies.

For the Supreme Court vacancy alone there have been more than 40 recommendations.

As foretold in his speech to the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh several weeks ago, Mr. Taft expects to recommend in his message "constructive legislation" to strengthen and to make more certain the regulation of trusts.

Federal incorporation, which he has recommended heretofore, probably will be put up to Congress. The tariff will be discussed in the message.

GRANTED DIVORCE

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 14.—A decree of absolute divorce yesterday was granted in the Superior Court of this county to Mrs. Louisa Fletcher Tarkington, wife of Booth Tarkington, the novelist and playwright. Mrs. Tarkington had not asked for alimony.

TILT IN COURT.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 14.—Charges of subterfuge made by Judge Walter Bordwell against the defence in the McNamara murder trial some weeks ago, were taken up by Attorney Clarence Darrow at the opening of court yesterday under what he held to be an equal case, and hurried it at the state. An effort by the district attorney, John D. Fredericks, to reply was cut short.

"You don't need to make any argument on that," the court said, and retained A. Gribbling the talesman under discussion, after asking him a few questions. Gribbling was challenged at the opening of court because, in a series of answers to questions by the opposing counsel, he had said he would not convict in a capital case on circumstantial evidence. He also said he would "the state challenged him on the strength of the negative statement."

DOES NOT WANT FORTUNE.

Waterville, Kas., Nov. 14.—No joy came to Peter Odell when he learned that he was heir to $250,000. He is 81 years old and is slowly dying from a terrible disease. All his life he has lived in poverty, earning his daily bread by fishing and doing odd jobs.

A. H. Odell, who died recently in Los Angeles, left a fortune of $500,000 to two brothers. When told of his good fortune, the aged fisherman cried out: "My God, why could he not live to enjoy it and not leave it to me? I do not know what to do with so much money. I am afraid of it."

Peter Odell has not seen his brother since 1857. A third brother, R. B. Odell, lives in New York.

WINNIPEG BONSPIEL.
Scottish Curlers Will Arrive in Prairie Capital Early in February.

Winnipeg, Nov. 14.—Scottish curlers will reach Winnipeg on Thursday, February 8, and it will be possible to have the opening of the bonspiel on Friday, February 9, or five days ahead of the time agreed upon at the international annual meeting of the Curling Association. The changing of dates will be a welcome one to western curlers as the date originally decided on was somewhat too late to ensure good ice for the big competitions. It was the original intention to have the semi-annual meeting and draw on the night of February 13.

THREE MURDERED.

New York, Nov. 14.—A triple murder was committed yesterday in Brooklyn. Two women, mother and daughter and the child of one of them, were found dead in a dwelling on Park avenue. The father of the child is being searched for by the police.

There are seventeen ladies who are persons in their own right.

handed in to the business office not later than 2 p. m. the previous day.
Arrangements for the insertion of new advertisements must be made before 10 a. m. day of publication.

benefit of readers of the Times, who insist upon the paper being deliv-

CHURCH TAX EXEMPTION.

The ecclesiastical delegation which waited upon the Tax Commission in Victoria to press for the exemption of church property from taxation has aroused not a little protest from various sections of the community because of its action. It is claimed, and we think with good reason, that such a request is reactionary and that its justice cannot be maintained in view of the many questions which are corollary to the issue raised. The Secularist cannot easily be persuaded that the holdings of ecclesiastical organizations for religious or quasi-religious purposes should be free from the burden of an equitable share in maintenance of the utilities which combine to regulate the life and activities of a community. The question is not a broad one, and we think the Secularist is right.

The functions of government obtain equally with respect to all classes in society; and it would seem that what is enjoyed equally by all should be paid for equally, in so far as it is possible to make any system of taxation equitable. The fact that a number of citizens unite under a common denomination and for a specific cause—even if that cause be religious—does not justly constitute a right to absorption from the responsibilities upon which social order is based. To accord the consideration of tax remission to any body or combination of such bodies would be, in our opinion, class legislation in maintenance of class distinction and class privilege. Not one but many other organizations could advance arguments equally potent in favor of tax exemption as those advanced by the ecclesiastical organizations, and no system of church exemption could be devised that would not work injustice to many of these.

The argument which was advanced that the churches lessen crime and that one church is of as much value to a community as fifty policemen is scarcely germane to the question even if the truth of this proposition could be established. We very much doubt if it could, because the tables show that nearly half the crimes committed against society are committed by persons more or less closely affiliated with ecclesiastical organizations. We make this statement, not to controvert the assumption that the moral influence of the ecclesiastical institutions is enormous in the communities where these are established, but to illustrate the fallacy of the argument that churches as such and in individual cases are entitled to tax exemption for that reason.

Whatever may be the ideal which inspires and dominates attachment to ecclesiastical organizations, it is generally true that church membership is maintained for reasons that are strongly personal. And in so far as they are personal they partake of the baseness of selfishness. We use the word in its philosophical, not its offensive, sense. Constituted and conducted as they are to-day there can be no denial of the fact that membership in the churches is held, not so much to provide a means for the individual to contribute of his talents, energies, time and means for the good of society as an established and regularly conducted means by which something considered beneficial and good for the individual is obtained.

While the whole tendency of this age is in the direction away from ecclesiastical privileges and the sentiment favoring disestablishment of religious organizations has swept over Europe and is now assailing these privileges in Great Britain, we think the consideration asked for by the Victoria delegation is not a mark of progress, but one in the opposite direction.

WORLD-GIRDLING WIRELESS.

The proposal of the British government to assist in financing the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company in its undertaking to establish an all-British wireless system to belt the world gives reasonable assurance that the plan will be carried out. It is calculated, that twenty-five stations will be necessary to complete the circuit and the cost of the scheme is reckoned at £1,500,000.
This is less than the cost of a superdreadnought. The annual upkeep of the stations is estimated at £200,000, while the earning capacity is placed at £500,000. It is planned to have a fixed rate of one penny per word throughout the Empire. The Marconi company has expressed the confidence that all the Overseas Dominions would be willing to contribute to the undertaking, and the various governments will be asked to co-operate in the enterprise.
With the British exchequer backing the scheme it should be a guaranteed success and is worth the serious consideration of the component parts of the Empire.

Count that day lost in which the Times contains no story of some shooting accident ending in a fatality.

Last year the Canadian people paid
$8,000,000 extra for woollen clothing because of the high tariff. The woollen industry in Canada pays annually about $1,500,000 in wages. How easy are the Canadian buyers.

Extolling the virtues of protection, the Toronto Telegram says: "The ferocities of competition are mitigated by protection." There is nothing that is particularly sensational in this information. We have known about it for some time.

The Western Call, personal organ of H. H. Stevens, M. P. for Vancouver, has an "official" notice that communications for Mr. Stevens at Ottawa should be addressed to Hon. H. H.
Stevens, M. P. This will remind Mr.
Bower of the clergymen who sign hotel registers and bank cheques with the prefix "Rev." Stevens needs to be eat upon. He is swelled all up.

Hitting the nail squarely on the head, a contemporary remarks: Speaker Champ Clark says that if the annexation of Canada were made an issue in the United States elections, every state would give a majority for it. That is easy. If the annexation of all the British possessions were made an issue at the next United States elections, every state would vote for it. If it were also made an issue at the next United States elections that the Americans should own the earth, every state would give a majority for it.

The pathetic appeal of the morning paper to those citizens "who have personal acquaintance with ministers" to write letters to these urging the claims of Victoria to the favorable consideration of the new government is a sensational revelation as to the amount of confidence it places in the influence of the member for Victoria. Why not form a delegation of leading citizens who are personally acquainted with Mr. Borden and do as Mr. McBride has done? Go directly to the fountain head. Something desperate must be done if the signs mean anything.

In China the revolutionists have made demands for a constitutional and representative government. Not only this, but they demand the exclusion of all nobles from the new parliament. In this fourth century China transcends twentieth century Britain, for the latter is apparently content with limitation of the power of the lords. Even in China the rank and file are turning away from ancestor worship, of which the established family and noble pedigrees of the Occident seem to be but the civilized survival. "Old things are passing away; behold all things become new," said a prophet who once hurled a bombshell into the ranks of the "establishment." And the end is not yet. "Behold I will make all things new," spoke one with more than vice-regal power.

One of the institutions which must evidently be credited with playing an important yet conservative part in directing emigration from the British Isles to Canada is the British Passenger Agents' Association. Mr. J.
Obad Smith was recently able to make the gratifying statement that out of the many thousands which the association had recommended during recent years as suitable persons for emigration to Canada only one-half of one per cent. had been rejected either in Great Britain or on their arrival in Canada. Hon. J. H. Turner called the members of the association "unordained Empire missionaries" and in view of the figures he quoted the name would seem not to be misapplied. It will take deliberate caution on the part of both Dominion and Provincial agencies if this standard of immigration is to be equalled by the agencies.

It will be recalled by Liberals that in the heat of the reciprocity campaign the Tory papers of Canada published a sensational report that Leduc, the Tory candidate in East Quebec—Sir Wilfrid Laurier's constituency—had been drugged by an unscrupulous gang of Liberals and induced to withdraw from the contest. Much campaign thunder reverberated as an echo of the rumor.
Sir Wilfrid challenged the truth of the story and offered to resign if it could be established. Yesterday Justice
Langelier gave judgment in the case.
Here is the judgment:

"Leduc became a candidate in Quebec
East with the object of making money.
As he had said to two of the witnesses,
'money talks.' He perceived that his candidacy was ridiculous. He complained that his own political friends were forsaking him. He began by wishing to obtain money and a position and modestly asked for $5,000. Not being able to secure money, he resigned purely and simply in the hope that later his conduct would be remembered."
Obviously the Tory campaign management rather than admit the fallacy of contesting Sir Wilfrid's constituency and ever fertile in lies, started the rumor—Laurier's friends.
We think comment is needless.

CHICAGO POISONING MYSTERY.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—With the grand jury in session to-day there was speculation as to whether State's Attorney Wayman would be prepared to present evidence in the case of Mrs. Louise Vermilya, held in the county jail accused of the murder of Arthur Bissonette.

Captain Patrick Harding, it is known, has accumulated a large amount of evidence against the woman, but there was a question as to whether it would be presented to the grand jury before the inquest had been held on next Friday.

Mrs. Vermilya's condition has improved to such an extent that it was said she might be able to attend the inquest.

MISSIONARY MOVEMENT.
Toronto, Nov. 14.—Describing his trip eastward from Vancouver in the interests of the laymen's movement, Sir Andrew Fraser feelingly referred to the inspiring friendships made in the Canadian West.

"I am not a believer in cold-blood about the things we feel deeply," said he, "but I like better than the enthusiasm, which was everywhere, the quite purposeful way in which the convention was carried on." He predicted that the missionary endeavor would make Canada noble, stronger and better.

stands on ice. It is situated between Ural and the Okhotsk Sea. A well was recently dug in that region, when it was found that at a depth of 200 feet the ground was still frozen.

Dr. Singh Speaks.—The chairman of the opening meeting of the Chinese Methodist Mission, Rev. Mr. Hartwell, superintendent of the Oriental mission of the Methodist church in B. C., called upon Dr. Singh to address the meeting on behalf of the Hindus. Dr. Singh congratulated the Methodists in Canada and the mission board in Toronto on having such a nicely equipped building for the Chinese. He said he with the help of other earnest Christians was trying to get the wives and children of the Hindu men admitted to Canada, and he appealed to the audience to help them by their sympathy and good will. He felt that the religion of Christ knew no color line, for they were all one, especially when he saw so many Canadian Methodists taking part in the meeting that night.

GREAT INTEREST IN HEALTH LECTURES

Dr. Sperry Deals With Question Before Large Audience.
—Detriments to Health

There was again a large attendance at the Y. M. C. A. last evening when Dr. Lyman B. Sperry spoke on "Human Conditions and Possibilities." The lecturer dealt extensively with the seven principal detriments to the human being fulfilling the full measure of strength which nature intended for him, and these he classed as war, lust, narcotics, mal-nutrition, mal-respiration, unnecessary worry, and overwork. The doctor, speaking of narcotics, discussed the evils arising from the use of cocaine, opium, and tobacco, and similar narcotics, and also the use of alcohol, and speaking of mal-nutrition he said that through overeating, and similar causes, much evil was caused, people seeking to check the evil of their own making with drugs and stimulants. They saw a great deal of mal-respiration in the way people closed their bedroom windows, and cut off all sources of air during the winter months. Fresh air, and open windows were essential to the health of the human being.

He dealt with the exhalations in a home due to persons coming home the worse for liquor, or from the scenes of disease, and then remarked that the public wondered when someone in the house sickened. He also dealt with the dangers of overwork, and of worry; most of which was unnecessary.

The doctor speaks this evening on "Four-Fourths a Man," and will continue his lectures till Friday evening daily. From here he proceeds to Vancouver, having an engagement to speak in the association buildings in Vancouver, Calgary, Brandon, Winnipeg and Regina. Since commencing the present tour, which began at Oakland, California, on October 1, he has spoken at Portland V. M. C. A., at Hoquiam, Wash.; Kelso, Idaho; and Bellingham. On the completion of his Canadian visit he will resume a course of addresses in the Middle States.

Will Meet To-morrow.—The Women's Educational club will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. J. O. Dunford, 144 Government street, to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Peculiarities of Chinese Warfare.—As showing the gross corruption existing in the Chinese army, through the trafficking of the Manchou officials, F. W. Bergman, manager of the G. T. P. hotel, the Chateau Laurier at Ottawa, who is in the city on official business, said that when he resided in China during the Chinese and Japanese war of 1894-95, the Chinese troops were in some cases armed with rifles and guns picked up on the Franco-German battlefields in 1870, brushed up by German houses in Hamburg, and shipped out to China. Frequently when the soldiers attempted to fire them again they exploded in their hands. Mr. Bergman added that when he resided in the Celestial empire the whole official classes seethed with corruption, and he did not think there was much probability of a change for the better since he left the country.

REPLENISH COAL SCUTTLES HERE

MAINLAND DEALERS TO BUY ISLAND FUEL

No Anticipated Shortage in Victoria—Prices as Usual

The unexpected cold snap has directed attention to the price of fuel, and the prospects for the coming winter, whose advent has arrived unusually early this year.

The protracted industrial disputes in the Crow's Nest fields, while seriously reducing the supply of coal throughout the province, will be beneficial to the collieries on Vancouver Island; where the fuel merchants of the mainland will be compelled to buy their supply of coal this year, and already three or four of the best known men in the trade in the cities of the lower mainland have been over to make the necessary inquiries, to secure an adequate supply for fulfilling their orders which are coming in. There has been, however, a better supply of coal from the island collieries than is available at the present time, and prices, therefore, will stand in Victoria at the same figures they have held in previous winters, as far as local coal merchants can foresee at this stage.

The average price for domestic coal delivered in this city this winter may be taken at $7.50 per ton, or a corresponding figure to that of previous years for a similar class of coal. The only difficulty has been the question of securing teams, which have held up orders, and this problem has arisen from the demands of construction gangs on the Canadian Northern Pacific railway and the big paving contracts in the city itself, which has created an unexpected shortage of horses. The citizens, however, need have no fear of an increase of prices, and may thank themselves they are free from the hardships which threaten on the whole of the western prairies and the Kootenay districts, all of which are dependent for a supply on the Crow's Nest and Southern Alberta sources.

The other principal fuel, wood, has been largely in demand during the last few days, and the cold spell sharpened the requirements of persons who were caught in the snap unprepared. Mill slabs are selling at about $12.50 a load, of which about three and a half run to the cord. This, of course, is not cut to lengths, and involves considerable work, while the regular mill wood sold for stove purposes is cut into suitable lengths, and is, therefore, better for the average householder, and this sells for $17.50 a load. There are about three loads of this material to the cord, and the prices contrast favorably with those in other cities of the province. The mills here received a bunch of orders as soon as the frosty weather came from persons who had been negligent in making the necessary provision, and were caught napping.

The average housewife mixes coal and wood here judiciously, and in a damp climate where fires are very necessary, the consumption of fuel is enormous. It is, however, safe to assume that whatever other places may suffer as a consequence of the fuel shortage Victoria citizens will be in a happy position this winter.

SMOKING CONCERT

Gunner Penketh Gets Handsome Gift From Comrades of No. 3 Company.

Gunner A. Penketh, who was a member of the Canadian military team "under" Captain J. C. Harris which was so successful in the competitions at Shoeburyness last summer, was the recipient of a handsome watch fob with the regimental crest and gold fob chain, and a very nice gold watch, as a gift from the members of the Fifth Regiment at a smoking concert held in the drill hall last night. Major W. Ridgway Wilson presided.

Captain Harris spoke highly of the work done by Gunner Penketh as well as the other Victoria members of the team, and described the competitions, in which the Canadian team had been winners of the Prince of Wales cup, the Landrovers cup and the Canadian challenge cup. A party time was spent by the members of the company and their guests with speech, song and smoke. Among those who contributed to the enjoyment of the evening were Gunners S. P. Langley, Stuckey, Seaton and Raper, Corporal Ray and Sapper Lelaw, of the Royal Engineers, Sheffield, D. Delorme acted as accompanist.

A BENEVOLENT ORDER

A Description of Work Conducted by the B. P. O. B.

The Times has been requested to publish the following interesting article on the Benevolent Protective Order of Beavers: The social and beneficial spirit is a living and vitalizing force in the affairs of men. More and more are we coming to a realizing sense that co-operation with others is essential to our welfare and progress. Orders having such purposes in view are receiving more consideration than ever before. Those with these objects are increasing in great numbers.

Among the social orders standing for true brotherly love and protection the B. P. O. B. ranks as one of the first. In undergoing the difficulties incident to its formative period, it has thrown off the trammels and mistakes of the older orders and to-day stands forth a progressive exponent of those higher and better things which such orders inculcate. This is evidenced by the following brief reference to its formation and rapid growth.

The Benevolent Protective Order of Beavers was organized in 1911 in Victoria by C. M. Bennett, W. S. Lawrie, Robt. Lowe, Curry Daugherty, and A. Shuttleworth, at which meeting the supreme executive council were selected, to consist of Supreme Chief, Beaver P. Lett, Supreme Secretary A. Shuttleworth and H. C. Swenson, supreme treasurer, with power to draw up constitutions and laws, and power to institute a colony at once in Victoria. Since August the executive council has instituted three colonies with twelve hundred members, with the organizing force ready to institute colonies in five other cities.

In September, 1911, and W. S. Lawrie and Curry Daugherty were elected as its supreme organizers. The proof that these selections were wise is the wonderful growth of the order.

At the time of its inception, the supreme executive council was chosen, and to it entrusted the affairs of organization, laws and institution. With the energy and business principles applied, it will show a record unparalleled in the growth of fraternal organizations.

One does not have to search to find the reason for this growth. Beside the effective business principles adopted by the B. P. O. B. stands for all that is expressed in the words "Benevolence, Industry, Protection and Brotherly Love."

The B. P. O. B. are organizing in every province in the Dominion and will eventually enter all European countries. It is non-sectarian and non-political, and enrolls members in every walk of life.

The record would be incomplete without reference to the distinctive service rendered by the supreme organizer, Curry Daugherty. Brother Daugherty is a man of sterling character, strong convictions and human sympathies. He is a young man on the threshold of great accomplishments in the fraternal world.

Colony No. 1, Victoria, will close for chartered members on the night of November 20th, and all applicants who have not taken the obligation should not fail to do so, as after this date the fee will be raised to not less than $15.

The organizing force reports that great interest is being taken in all towns, and demands that the order shall be the strongest in numbers of any fraternal lodge in Victoria. Very enthusiastic colonies exist in Kamloops, Cumberland, Ladysmith and Vancouver. The organizers will be on hand at 7 o'clock in the Eagles' hall, 1212 Government street, and after the business session members will give an open social to all Victorians. Everybody invited.

COUNCIL OF WOMEN

Regular Monthly Meeting was Held Yesterday Afternoon.

The monthly meeting of the Victoria Women's Council was held yesterday afternoon in the ladies parlor of the Y. M. C. A. Miss Crease presided, and Mrs. McDonald acted as corresponding secretary in the absence of Mrs. Calvin Burns. A number of letters were read from the various societies that had been asked to affiliate with the local council.

An expression of sympathy was extended to Mrs. J. D. Gordon in her recent bereavement. Miss Crease explained the difference between individual membership and membership. The industrial membership meant membership in the local council, the person not belonging to any other society affiliated with the council. All members of societies affiliated with the local council were members of the local council without extra fee.

The subject of white girls finding employment in Oriental stores was discussed. Wayward girls and boys was a subject dwelt upon at some length and Miss Crease expressed the view that the press might take the matter up.

Mrs. Williscroft was tendered a resolution of sympathy in her present sorrow. An official committee composed of Mrs. Spofford, Mrs. Bromley-Jubb and Mrs. Hale, were appointed to inspect the women's department at the provincial fair.

During the meeting a letter was read from S. F. Bastedo, superintendent of government annuities, thanking Miss Crease for her co-operation in connection with Mrs. Cummings' address on the subject of annuities.

THE COMING BOUT OF WOLGAST AND WELSH

Well-Known Sporting Writer Gives His Impressions—Genuine Championship

W. W. Naughton, the veteran sporting writer of San Francisco, has this to say of the coming bout between Ad Wolgast and Freddie Welsh at Los Angeles on November 30.

There is an event that looms in red letters on the pugilistic calendar. It is a genuine championship and will be marked with all the "pomp and panoply" of such affairs. A coveted title will hang in the balance and the affair will be presided over by a real live referee, who will not be a slip of a shoulder or a glove-bedecked hand aloft when the battle is lost or won.

After the hobnobbing of the East and the no-account contests of the West, a ring event of this character is something to look forward to. What makes it all the more interesting is that it is a flavors of the international complication.

If Wolgast wins his match, it will be the crowning triumph of his career. A victory over Packey McFarland or Matt Wells at the hard and fast high level of the world would not be a great feat, for it is very evident that neither of these men could meet the champion on level weight terms. Both Packey and Matt have to fight a few pounds above the scale and, such being the case, Wolgast would get little credit for whipping either of them.

Wolgast can make any weight that Wolgast can make. In the next place, Freddie is a combination fighter. He is remarkably clever at stand-around work and he has studied the fight-yourself-loose system until he is well able to take care of himself during clinches or roughing spells at close quarters. He is one of the cleanest little fellows that ever took up fist-cuffs as a means of gaining a livelihood and he is a conscientious trainer.

In addition to all this, he knows the fighting part of the game thoroughly. He has studied the Michigan wild-cat develop from a husky novice to a world's champion and having "had 'em on" with Wolgast in his cub days.

If Wolgast overcomes all this, it will prove that the present holder is a lightweight champion through and through, for reckoning point for point, the lightweight division at the present time holds no more formidable bidder for the title than English Freddie Welsh.

Some of Wolgast's ardent admirers are of the opinion that he will have no more trouble with Welsh than he had with Owen Moran, but it is not easy to determine how they arrive at the conclusion.

It is generally admitted that Moran, when he boxed Wolgast, was in poor shape, owing to leading a dissipated life. He made a brave show of fitting himself for the tussle, but the stamina was missing, and the best proof of this was that Owen lacked the support of the betting contingent.

Men who had wagered their money on Moran in his prior fights in San Francisco, placed their coin on Wolgast last fourth of July. This does not imply that there was anything crooked in the affair, but rather that those who knew Moran well were satisfied he could not "go the route." And the result proved that they figured correctly.

Again Moran fought right into Wolgast's hands. He led just when the champion wanted him to, and he allowed himself to be inveigled into mixing matters, in which he was out-pointed two to one.

There are two directions in which Wolgast is better equipped than Owen Moran for a contest with Wolgast. Freddie never acquired a taste for liquor, and as a consequence his physical powers are unimpaired. Besides, he knows Wolgast's style of fighting thoroughly and, while sitting at the ringside during the Wolgast-Moran match, expressed disgust at Moran's habit of falling into traps laid for him by Wolgast.

WRESTLING

Dr. Roller Thinks Zbyseco Can Throw Gotch.

"Europeans as a rule, outside of the catch-as-catch-can wrestling game," says Dr. Roller, "and even if they are taught it, when they first come to this side, they rarely, if ever, make the eyes of it. But in this connection, as well as in regard to other matters, it takes the exception to prove the rule. When I say this, I have in mind Stanislaus Zbyseco, who is to-day, without the slightest doubt, one of the best catch-as-catch-can men on the mat. He has learned the game since first coming to this country. From the very first time he came here he has made this style of wrestling a study, for he is a good thinker, this same Zbyseco. He has as many tricks as any wrestling man to-day, and they are all good. He has perfected the best holds and tricks of Gotch, of Western, of Americans, of Beel, and, surprising to say, the last time I wrestled with him he pulled off a couple of 'good ones' that I thought were my exclusive property. He is a tremendously powerful fellow, and without doubt a great wrestler."

"He is very anxious to get a match with Gotch, and believe me he will come mighty near to beating the present champion. He is stronger, four or five years younger than Gotch, and a quick thinker—very unlike Gotch in the latter respect. His manager, Hermann, has $5,000 posted with one of the papers in New York, to bind a match with Gotch, and they are going to put up another $5,000 with a Chicago paper with the same object in view, so that in a few days they will have $10,000 up as a side bet, that he can defeat Gotch. I personally saw the New York cheque deposited. Gotch does not want any of the Zbyseco game, and you will find that he will not meet the husky young Pole unless absolutely forced into it."

FOUR NAMED FOR ICE HOCKEY TEAM

WALTER SMAILL AND BOBBY ROWE ARRIVED

Lester Patrick and Donald Smith Have Places—Four Wanderers Coming Soon

Four of the seven men to play on the Victoria ice hockey team this winter under the Patrick management have been selected and three are in possession of contracts. The fourth, Lester Patrick, does not need a contract for he is the head and brains of the ice hockey movement in the province.

Two of the players, besides Patrick, are in Victoria waiting the opening of the season and the completion of the ice rink at Oak Bay to commence practice on the ice.

Bobby Rowe and Walter Smail, numbered among the most prominent hockey men in the world, are the two who are now in Victoria and whose names are well known as hockey stars to every person in Victoria from eastern Canada. The other man selected and signed to play for Victoria is Donald Smith, who at the moment is in Vancouver.

That the Patrick brothers are intending to give the West the best of the world has been seen from the fact that in addition to the men mentioned there are Johnston, Glass, Highland and Gardiner, all of the Wanderer hockey team and world's champions, who are signed to come west and who have written to say they are leaving the east at the end of next week.

They are under engagement to the Patrick brothers but no announcement has been made as to which of them will play for Victoria and which for Vancouver. Lester Patrick is in communication with several prominent players in the east for the purpose of making up the remainder of the B. C. team and has received several scores of applications from more or less second rate players.

Among those to whom the Patricks have offered large inducements to come west is L. B. Lindsay, the famous goal tender for Renfrew and teammate of Bobby Rowe. His reply is definitely expected next week and it is known that he is favorably inclined to come west and play with his former team mates.

Bobby Rowe, who is now working at the Fit-Rite tailoring parlors in the Westholm building, was captain of the Renfrew team last year. The Renfrew team is the runner up in the last two championships, being second to Ottawa last year and second to the Wanderers the year before.

Rowe plays all over the ice but his favorite position is left wing. He commenced playing hockey with Fourchamps, Mich., in 1901, when he lived there for two years. At the end of that time he returned to Canada and has played with Meaford, O. H. A. and Barrie, O. H. A. He then went to the Renfrew club and remained with that team the last five years. He is 25 years of age.

Walter Smail, who is now in Victoria residing at the Y. M. C. A., and employed at the ice-skating rink, comes from Montreal where he commenced playing hockey with the Westmont intermediates. He then played cover point for the Wanderers while that club held the championship for two years, and then went to Cobalt where he played one year. Since then he has been the Wanderers' left wing and is an able defence man, in fact one of the best in the world.

Lester Patrick is too well known to need any reference save to say that he holds the place as having been the highest paid hockey player in Canada, receiving a salary of $2,700 for one season's work.

Donald Smith, who is due in Victoria to take a place on the team is a Renfrew player who played under the captaincy of Rowe. He also played centre with Toronto and before that was a member of the Cornwall team. Johnston, Glass, Highland and Gardiner are all of the Wanderers' champion team and were with that aggregation for three years.

In reference to the salaries to be paid the hockey players in Victoria and Vancouver these will be higher than those paid in the east. The clubs of the east pay the players between $500 and $1,200 for the season's work of three months, while the salaries for which the Victoria players have been signed are up to $1,800 for the season. The money inducements are the largest, with the exception of the amount received by Patrick, that have ever been paid in Canada, which goes to show that the Patrick brothers are stopping at no inducement or price to give the Victoria and Vancouver public the very best in the world in their endeavor to make the ice hockey game a success here.

Further evidence that the Patricks are doing the ice-hockey innovation in the very best style is shown by the building of the largest ice rink in the world in Vancouver. Victoria need not be behind in talking of the size of the Oak Bay rink for there are but two in the world larger. One is at Vancouver and the second is at Boston. Therefore Victoria ranks as possessing the third largest ice hockey rink.

The ice surface is exactly the same size as those in the rinks at Montreal and Ottawa where the great championships are played, and when the season opens here it will be sure to be surrounded with people to the last inch of standing space.

RULES DRAWN FOR ROSS RUGBY TROPHY

Cup for Competition Between Teams From Clubs in the Western Provinces

A new trophy has been presented for competition in Western Canada between rugby clubs. It is known as the Hugo Ross challenge cup to be held by the leading amateur team in the west, and eventually may be brought to the coast as all the coast clubs are eligible to play for it. The trustees, J. D. Pratt and Walter Horman have drawn up the following rules under which the cup is to be held:

A perpetual challenge trophy representing the amateur rugby championship of Western Canada.

1. Two trustees to be appointed by the donor, Hugo Ross, to receive the cup in trust, and act with him in matters pertaining thereto. Their appointment shall be for life. In case of the resignation or death of any one of the trustees or remaining trustee the donor shall fill the vacancy.

2. The cup to be open to challenge at the end of a season between clubs having won a championship of some recognized amateur senior rugby football league or union in the district west of Lake Superior. The trustees shall, however, in their discretion call upon the owners of the cup to defend it, if for any reason the deciding of the championship of the league or union in which the cup is held, being delayed beyond a date sufficiently early to dispose of the challenges likely to be received for that year.

The cup shall not be open to challenge by other clubs of the same league, the club winning the championship of the league shall be entitled to possession of the cup without any special game, and that club shall defend it in accordance with above.

3. In the event of a tie and there not being sufficient time to play it off on the date on which match is being played, the trustees shall consider that the cup has been successfully defended.

4. No player shall be permitted to play for either a challenging or defending club if he has, during the same season, played with another team in a cup match, nor shall any player be considered eligible for a cup match if he has played in a team belonging to another senior league in the same season. And no challenge will be accepted unless accompanied by an endorsement as to the amateur standing of the club challenging from the provincial branch of the A. A. U. of C.

5. The trustees shall obtain a suitable guarantee from the holders of the cup, or bond for its safe return, and it shall be the duty of the club winning the cup to see that suitable shield be placed on base showing name of club and year.

6. The trustees shall have power by a majority vote, to change, amend or cancel the present rules and to add new rules to the then existing ones.

TO-MORROW'S SWIMMING TEST

Arrangements For the Record Breaking Attempt by George Simpson.

At a meeting of the executive of the Y. M. C. A. Swimming Club, held yesterday, arrangements were made for the demonstration to-morrow evening at the tank, when George Simpson will attempt to lower the Canadian record for the mile (using the breast stroke). For this test Warren Long is to referee and C. E. Hopper will keep time.

It was decided to postpone the proposed life-saving demonstration, and in its place play a polo match, the teams to be as follows:

B—Harding, L. Godfrey, Muir, Cameron and McKell.

B—Crompton, McNeil, Stott, Cropper and Gill.

In addition to this water polo match there will be a water polo match, which will most probably take the form of an egg and spoon race.

The demonstration, to which all are invited, will commence promptly at 8 o'clock, and members are requested to be on time.

CHAMPION SKATER TO TOUR THE EAST

Bush Will Compete in All the Amateur Championships During This Winter

O. B. Bush, the British Columbia skater, will compete in all eastern ice championships this winter. He won three American championships in 1909, defeating the celebrated Edmund Lahey in very fast time, 1:17 3/4 for the half mile, and 2:52 for the mile. He will race in Chicago, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Saratoga Lake, Montreal, Boston, and New York city, in all of which places he is well and favorably known.

Bush is a member of the Vancouver Athletic Club and has a great record. He won the 220-yard American championship in 1908, 220-yard American championship in 1909, one-half mile American championship in 1909, and the 200 meters in Switzerland in 1910; in 1910 he won the all-round championship of Western Canada in about two weeks to start in training.

It is feared that for several hours in advance of a great storm songbirds cease their chirp.

MORAN-DRISCOLL FIGHT IS ILLEGAL

Police Court Action Taken and Pugilists Bound Over to Keep the Peace

Birmingham, Eng., Nov. 13.—The magistrate in the police court today ruled that the proposed contest between Owen Moran and Jim Driscoll for the lightweight championship, would be a prize fight within the meaning of the law and therefore illegal. He bound Moran and Driscoll to keep the peace. This decision is regarded in sporting circles as practically equivalent to the death blow to boxing in England.

SPORT NOTES

George Simpson, the champion mile swimmer of British Columbia, will to-morrow night set out to make a new record for Canada, and he is the first to get after it. Simpson intends to swim a mile indoors, having discovered that there is no indoor mile record for Canada in existence. He will swim the mile in the Y. M. C. A. swimming tank, and the record will be posted as authentic and sent to all swimming organizations as the mile indoor record of Canada.

Charles Wrigglesworth, wrestler and club swinger, intends to hold wrestling classes at the James Bay Athletic Club gymnasium. Those desiring instruction will receive the same Tuesday and Thursday nights. The J. B. A. A. has many men proficient in all lines of sport except wrestling, which has not been followed much in Victoria. The pioneer club has a good example in pioneering in the wrestling sport.

Entries for the Vancouver Island amateur boxing tournament close on November 21. The tournament takes place on November 28. There are a number of new men affiliated with the athletic clubs since last year and Secretary Skuce, of the J. B. A. A., expects many entries for the championships.

There is a soccer football team at Shawnigan Lake. John P. Sweeney lives at the lake so the soccer team is really no surprise, for J. P. Sweeney is bound to start something.

The first McKechnie cup game is for November 28, when the Victoria Rugby team will go to Vancouver and play the Terminal City team. With the new weather at hand there is now a fortnight for the Victoria players to get into form, although the mainstay of the team has been dripped fairly hard.

"The best place to buy is where improvements will be quick and certain." If more people would just bear that in mind when buying real estate there would be fewer investment failures. Instead there would be more profits made from quick turn-overs. Try that principle next time you buy.

A short time ago we said that improvements would come quickly in Richmond Park. Were we right? Undoubtedly! Since we made that assertion the streets have been graded, several homes are under construction and now

Water Is to Be Laid on Quamichan Avenue

This is an important announcement. It will be read with satisfaction by those who have already bought. It should induce the person who did not buy to investigate the claims of Richmond Park at once. It is another reason why you should buy in this subdivision.

Richmond Park offers more advantages to the investor and homebuilder than any subdivision inside the city limits.

It has graded streets, sewers on three streets, water is piped to the property and a water main is to be laid down Quamichan avenue. The pipes are already in the ground. It is close to the Oak Bay car line and a good picnic and bathing beach. It is inside the city limits and is in line for all modern sanitary and civic improvements. A good class of homes is being built under the restriction of from $2,000 to $4,000. All this is in addition to the naturally beautiful situation of this subdivision.

An important thing to remember is that although Richmond Park has all the above advantages and is within the limits and jurisdiction of the city, prices are as low or lower than property entirely removed from so many advantages and improvements. Of course these prices cannot last. Price must go up because Richmond Park is a place of certainties.

William Norton, president of the Tacoma Baseball club of the Northwest League, will probably purchase the Tacoma franchise in the Northwest League, according to a statement by George M. He has an option on the Des Moines franchise in the Western League, but prefers Tacoma as many of his relatives live here. He also believes that Tacoma has a good future as a baseball town. Norton is now on his way back to Nebraska and will let Threder know within ten days whether or not he will buy the Tacoma franchise. His club finished second in the Nebraska League last season.

M'GILL STUDENTS

ARE VERY ACTIVE

They Will Send Three Athletic Teams to Vancouver on December 2

The students of the local branch of McGill University are making arrangements to send over three athletic teams with the contingent from the High School, which goes to Vancouver on December 2. They have decided to send two basketball teams, one composed of boys, the other of girls, to play quintettes from Vancouver Normal School, and a boys' hockey team. No match has been definitely arranged for the latter yet. The funds derived from the annual dance of the Hockey Club, which will take place at the A. G. U. W. hall on Friday, November 24, will be used to defray the expenses of the trip.

The High School Rugby team, which will play Vancouver High School, is speedily getting into shape for the great event of the year. In addition to the regular practices, games have been arranged with the Law Students' fifteen, the University School team and Vancouver McGill. The match with the Law Students, which was to have been played last Friday, will take place next Saturday at Oak Bay. On the following Saturday a match will be played with Vancouver McGill. These games will serve to keep the boys in good trim for the Vancouver meet next month.

HAWKS PECK NIGHT

BIRDS THREE TIMES

Low Scores on League Game at Arcade Alleys—Crows Meet Eagles To-night

Three straight was the way the Hawks played with the Owls in the Bird-bowing league match last night at the Arcade alleys, and even in three straight the winners did not show up remarkably well. The highest score of the match was made in the second game, when Pirie and Murray, for the Hawks, each scored 187. High man in losing team was Asklund, who got 164 in the second game, while Graves for the Owls scored 150 in each of the three games. Each of the teams did better as the match proceeded, the scores becoming higher on each side from game to game, as shown in the following summary:

In the same league the Crows are scheduled to play the Eagles to-night.

To the Editor:—Would it be sportsmen, or game hogs, who were making the rounds of Saanich district Sunday, shooting from automobiles and slaughtering hundreds of poor, half-frozen geese, under the fences, by the roadside for warmth? In my opinion, it would have been more to their credit if they had taken a sack of wheat and left their guns at home.

PALATIAL HOTELS

ARE TO BE BUILT

POLICY OF G. T. P. RAILWAY EXPLAINED

In the Matter of Up-to-Date Hostelties—Chateau for Victoria

F. W. Bergman, manager of the Chateau Laurier, Hotel in Ottawa, which is to be opened next May, is in the city. He spent yesterday with E. M. Rattenbury in connection with the proposed Grand Trunk Pacific Hotel at Prince Rupert, which will be started as soon as possible.

Mr. Bergman, in addition to having charge of the big hotel in the capital, occupies practically the position of superintendent of the G. T. P. hotel system, and it is in this office that he came to Victoria, and also to look at the local situation. However, so far as the G. T. P. hotel in Victoria is concerned he would not go further than President Hays did during the time he was here in September, when he said that the company would not take any steps beyond securing the site, nor had he received any instructions from the president in connection with the Victoria hotel.

When the time did come, however, he believed they would be prepared to spend at least a million dollars on the house, and the furnishings and fittings would represent another half million. His present mission, he told a Times representative, is exclusively in connection with the Prince Rupert hotel, the urgency of accommodation at this new city requiring first attention. The company proposes to build a first-class hotel of 250 rooms in the French chateau style, to be opened in time for the completion of the transcontinental line to the coast in the spring of 1914.

This hotel will be so planned that another 200 rooms can be added at a later date, and Mr. Bergman remarked that it was as cheap to design a house of 250 as 200 rooms. The G. T. P. has such absolute confidence in the future of the northern terminal that it will prove none too large when the transcontinental is through.

Mr. Bergman was careful to point out that the company intends to use Canadian materials in the construction of the hotels and all the furnishings are to be purchased in the country. He also hoped the wholesale houses in Victoria would get busy, and open branches in Prince Rupert, as the construction of a big hotel in the northern city would mean a large expenditure of money, and would create a big demand for supplies. The development of Canadian industries in the past two or three years had made this possible, though when he first left the G. T. P. to enter the G. T. P. service he doubted the feasibility of such a proposal.

Mr. Bergman then entered into a resume of the hotel policy of the company, and said it was the intention to erect eight hotels, of which the Chateau Laurier at Ottawa was well advanced. Excavations were in progress at Winnipeg for the Fort Garry hotel, and the hotels at Edmonton, Prince Rupert and Victoria were three more under consideration. Another would be located in the Sulphur Spring district in the Rockies through which the line passed, and would rival Banff, while the other two would be at divisional points of the line between Winnipeg and Edmonton, and Edmonton and Prince Rupert, the sites of which had not yet been located. All the hotels would be built in the French chateau style, and speaking of the Winnipeg site, he said its proximity to the old fort had determined the directors to call it "Fort Garry," the remains of which are in a park almost adjoining, and close to the big Union Depot. The hotel here will not be as large, but on the same scale as Prince Rupert.

Mr. Bergman will stay in the city a week, and then go north to Prince Rupert, after which he will return to Vancouver, and leave for Edmonton to supervise the hotel plans of the company in the Alberta capital.

C. P. R. TRAINS

BREAK RECORDS

Make Fast Time Between Quebec and Montreal Junction

Montreal, Nov. 14.—When the engineer climbed down from the cab of the C. P. R. engine on the Overseas Mail train at Montreal Junction, he had just brought his train in from what is the fastest run that has yet been made between Quebec and Montreal. Not only was the best previous record broken, but it was so badly mangled it is now hardly recognizable as the best previous record.

Owing to various steamship delays the operating officials of the C. P. R. had been advised to rush the overseas mail from Quebec, and rush it they did, with a vengeance, the train putting away an average of nearly forty-five miles an hour for the whole trip of 157.5 miles. Leaving Quebec at 7:35 the train reached Montreal Junction at 11:30 p. m., making the journey in three hours and fifty minutes. The best previous record for this trip was four hours and fifty-five minutes, so that the old record was broken by one hour.

This, however, is not the whole of the story, because shortly after the time for the westbound Overseas Mail was made known word was flashed from Quebec that the eastbound train had also broken the best previous record. The time for this train was four hours and seven minutes, which while not as good as the westbound train's time, was nevertheless good enough to beat the former time by thirty-three minutes. Both trains were made up of five cars.

SALVATION ARMY

OFFICIAL CHANGES

Promotion Made Necessary as Result of Growth of Work in West

Winnipeg, Nov. 14.—Salvation Army official changes of the most extensive character since the organization of that body in the west, are now definitely announced. The remarkable extension of the work in western Canada has necessitated the establishment of an officer here with wider authority than had hitherto been deemed essential and Col. Gaskin, the present field secretary of the Army, with headquarters in Toronto, will move to Winnipeg and will take charge of the full field of operations in the territory from Fort William to Victoria.

Brigadier Burditt will succeed to the office vacated by Col. Gaskin as chief of the Salvation Army immigration department in Canada with headquarters in Toronto. His successor will be Major John McLean, who is at present in charge of Nova Scotia with headquarters in Halifax.

Adj. McElheny will remain in Winnipeg for the present, his order to proceed to Hamilton, Ont., having been cancelled. The several other changes announced from Toronto headquarters of the Army are as follows: Lieut.-Col. Pugmire, men's social secretary, will succeed Col. Gaskin as field secretary for Canada; Lieut.-Col. Reed, who has been in charge of the Army's operations in Newfoundland, with headquarters in St. John's, will succeed Lieut.-Col. Pugmire as social secretary. Brigadier Morehen, now in charge of the Toronto division, will succeed Lieut.-Col. Reed at Newfoundland. Brigadier Mercher will be succeeded by Lieut.-Col. Chandler, now of London, Ont., with headquarters at Toronto. Major Morris of Vancouver will succeed Col. Chandler with headquarters at London, Ont. Major Green, now of Hamilton, Ont., will succeed Major Morris with headquarters at Vancouver. Brigadier Adby of St. John, N. B., will succeed Major Green with headquarters at Hamilton, Ont. Brigadier Taylor, of the training college, Toronto, will succeed Brigadier Adby of St. John. Staff Captain and Mrs. Coombs of the Temple, Toronto, will succeed Brigadier Taylor at the training college, Toronto. Adj. Barr of St. John, N. B., will succeed Major McLean with headquarters at Halifax.

All these changes take effect this month.

THE FEMALE OF HER KIND

Sam Kiser, of the Chicago-Record-Herald, pens the following parody of Kipling's new poem, "The Female of Her Species," printed in the Ladies' Home Journal:

When the Pennsylvania farmer meets the he-pike in his pride
He says some rude thing, knowing that the fish will turn aside;
But, perceiving that the she-pike has the twins out, he goes pale,
For the female of the species is more peevish than the male.

If you hear a rattler rattling where the briars are complex
Don't be frightened or befuddled, but find out the serpent's sex;
If the rattler is a male scold him and he'll leave the trail,
For the female of the species is more poison than the male.

When you're walking through a pasture where a bull that weighs a ton seems to take exception to you and comes snorting on the run,
Merely snap your fingers at him, that will stop him without fail;
For the female of the species is more deadly than the male.

When the bumble bee is humming where the clover tops are red,
If the bumble is a he-bee free yourself at once of dread;
You may get him while you safely yank the stinger from his tail,
For the female of the species is more stinging than the male.

Man, if you should be overtaken by a shark, a uddle, or a shore,
Do not let your nerve be shaken, nor emit a hopeless roar;
It may merely be a he-shark, and, therefore, as meek and mild as a little spotted rabbit that is petted by a child.

If you find a husband beating her whom he should keep from harm,
Do not pause to argue with him, do not clutch his upraised arm;
Try to keep from interfering, let him govern where he dwells,
For a broken head is painful and a jaw that's battered swells.

She is there to bear and suffer—bound by pure and holy ties;
She will brook no interference, though she utters piercing cries;
So pass on, pass on, O stranger—hurry, for the love of Mike!
Heaven help him if you stay him, giving her a chance to strike.

If you have an inclination to fool round with a male's hind feet,
Hear a wise man's word of warning; be observing and discreet;
Choose a he-mule for your subject and thus live to tell the tale,
For the female of her species is more deadly than the male.

NEW NAVAL CONSTRUCTION.

Sir William Smith Began Work on Rope-Walks at Portsmouth Dockyard.

The impending retirement of Sir Philip Watts from the position of Director of Naval Construction was announced from the Admiralty recently together with the appointment of Sir William Smith as his successor. Sir Philip, who will still be available as adviser to the Admiralty, is sixty-one years of age. He enjoys a world-wide reputation, not merely on account of the designs which he has prepared during the past ten years when he has been at the Admiralty, but by reason of the remarkable ships which were produced by Sir W. G. Armstrong, Whitworth, & Co., during the period of sixteen years that he acted as naval architect to this firm and director of the warship building department.

Sir William E. Smith is also sixty-one, having been born at Portsmouth. At the age of eleven he began work on the rope-walks at the dockyard. As the men spun the threads it was his duty to catch the end and, with a turn of the wrist that was at first difficult to acquire, throw them over the hooks. The rope-walk was a quarter of a mile long, and he tramped this 112 times daily—a walk of twenty-eight miles for a boy of eleven.

After four years of this he became an apprentice at Woolwich, then in its last days as a Royal dockyard, and later came back to Portsmouth, where he worked in the shops. In 1869 he entered the Royal School of Architecture at South Kensington. The school was then surrounded by cornfields, and he saw the walls of Gloucester-road Railway Station rise amid growing crops.

From South Kensington he entered the Naval Construction Department in 1872, and from that time his career has been a steady progress. His first work was in connection with the early ironclads, Northampton, Colossus, and Inflexible—ships which have long since passed to the scrap heap and handed their names on to more powerful successors.

In the early eighties Sir William was appointed instructor in naval architecture at the Royal College at Greenwich, and his lectures on the armoring of battleships, published by the admiralty, became the recognized text-book on the subject.

Then he became superintendent of Construction Accounts and Contract Work, and for years has had charge of all the varied naval work, running into tens of millions sterling, distributed to the great private firms of the country. He is known to the public as the designer of the Antarctic ship Discovery.

Sir William Smith, who was knighted at the time of the coronation in recognition of his services, cannot occupy his position very long owing to the retirement rules, but the action of the Admiralty in thus recognizing devoted service will be keenly appreciated by the officers of the corps of Naval Constructors.

To Everybody

The Grand Trunk Pacific are selling Section 2 of the city of Prince Rupert townsite on November 29th. Those who did not profit by the original sale of Prince Rupert property will now have an opportunity at the present sale.

About two years from now EVERYBODY will be alive to the wonderful opportunities at Prince Rupert. The man who is alive TO-DAY is the man who is going to reap the richest return.

Of course to anyone who has made up his mind that Prince Rupert is never going to amount to anything anyway anyhow, neither statement of fact nor appeal to reason is likely to be convincing, but the man who is alive to the resources of Northern British Columbia and the northern hinterland of this great Canada of ours, cannot arrive at any other conclusion than that a large city is in the making at the Pacific terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Already millions of dollars have been spent at Prince Rupert and preparations are being made for the expenditure of further millions.

Prince Rupert will be the centre of the largest fishing industry in the world. It will get the bulk of the Canadian Yukon and Canadian Alaska trade. It will have the largest share of the trade of Northern British Columbia. It will at least vie for first place in the Oriental trade and it will be the outlet for Northwestern Canada, to say nothing of its through connection with Eastern Canada.

Statements of fact in this advertisement are of course true, and I am hardly able to indulge in language extravagant of the possibilities of the northern seaport.

Keen business men from all parts of the world have already invested in Prince Rupert and I like to advise my friends or anyone else to invest there because I like to see an investment carry with it both the element of safety and a legitimate expectation of large profit.

My firm, Pattullo & Radford, have been operating in Prince Rupert since before the first lots were sold and are in consequence thoroughly familiar with every portion of the townsite.

At the last sale we bought for a large number of clients and everyone made money, some as high as one thousand per cent, and we shall be pleased to buy for anyone at the approaching sale.

I shall be glad to consult with intending purchasers and may be seen at the office of R. V. WINCH & CO., Ltd., 521 Fort Street.

COMING SOUTH FOR GENERAL OVERHAUL

Prince John Will Arrive Tomorrow and Spend One Week at Esquimalt

To undergo an extensive overhaul, the Grand Trunk Pacific steamer Prince John will arrive in port from the north some time tomorrow. She is to be hauled out on the British Columbia Marine ways and will spend about a week here having her hull cleaned and painted and her interior fixtures renovated. Officials of the company expect that she will be able to return to her run about a week from tomorrow.

The Prince John is now on her way south from Prince Rupert, having been relieved in the Prince Rupert-Stewart-Queen Charlotte Islands service by the steamer Prince Albert, which operates in the trade to northern British Columbia ports. The vessel has not been overhauled since she left the Clyde for this port last May and now that travel has fallen off considerably in the north the company has found time to send her south for a thorough cleaning.

When the John arrived here last July the company needed the vessel so urgently that she was sent north without an overhaul. Her interior was in the best of shape but her hull was dirty as the result of the 15,000-mile journey from the Old Country. The Prince Albert will resume her sailings upon the return of the John to Prince Rupert. The steamer Prince George is, now lying at Bullen's to have oil burners installed in her. Work on the construction of the huge tanks in which the oil will be stored, is progressing favorably. The vessel will remain at Esquimalt for many weeks yet before she is pronounced finished.

LAKE STEAMER ASHORE
Passengers Transferred From the Minto and Landed at Nelson.

Nelson, Nov. 14.—Passengers and mails from the lake due here Saturday night only arrived at half-past eleven Sunday night, more than 24 hours late. The steamer Minto, carrying the passengers from the coast, was blown ashore on the Arrow Lake during a tremendous storm prevailing Saturday. After a long and uncomfortable interval the passengers were transferred to the steamer Rossland and were brought to Nelson.

A scene of great excitement prevailed when the Minto struck and the passengers were only transferred after heroic exertions in the teeth of the blizzard. The Minto is still hard and fast

REPAIRS TO VESSEL DELAY HER SAILING

Strathdene Not Clearing for Mexican Ports for Fortnight—Still Lying at Frisco

Although the steamship Strathdene, which has been chartered by the Canadian-Mexican line to make one trip to Salina Cruz, replacing the Henley, was scheduled to sail from the outer docks to-morrow it will be upwards of ten days or a fortnight before she is ready to leave for the south. It is expected that the big freighter will clear shortly from San Francisco, where she is undergoing repairs, for the Terminal City, to commence loading her cargo for Mexican ports. While the Strathdene was en route from the Atlantic coast to Mare Island with a cargo of coal for the United States government, fire was discovered in her holds. During the time the cargo was afloat much damage was done to the interior of the vessel and shipbuilders at Frisco are now repairing the injuries. For several weeks she has been lying at the Golden Gate, being fitted, and the damage caused by the fire must have been most extensive.

It is expected that the steamship Henley, Capt. Masters, will reach port from Salina Cruz on Tuesday next. According to reports received here the vessel cleared from the southern port last Tuesday, the day when the heavy storm swept the Pacific coast, and no doubt she received a good battering about. The Henley is a month behind her schedule as she should have arrived on October 28. Heavy weather during the run down the coast has been partly responsible for the delay.

During the same gale which raged the day the Henley left Salina Cruz, the Londale, which was anchored in the harbor of Mazatlan, was forced to put to sea in order to prevent being blown ashore. This port being an open roadstead and without protection, the storm played pranks with the shipping there. After dragging her anchors a short distance, Capt. Bates, master of the steamship, ordered the vessel to head out in the gale and throughout Tuesday night and Wednesday the vessel was tossed about by the big seas, her decks being continually awash.

NEWS OF THE SEVEN SEAS

UNLOADING NITRATE AT CHEMICAL WORKS

Mathilda Here From the West Coast Points—Director at San Francisco

Moored at the Victoria Chemical Company's wharves is the freighter Mathilda, of the Grace fleet, which arrived on Sunday night from the west coast of South America with four hundred and fifty tons of nitrate for this port. The vessel has a large amount of nitrate to discharge on the Sound, and it is expected that she will clear late to-night for Tacoma and Seattle. Sixth of the fleet in the recently established service of the Harrison line between Europe and the North Pacific to arrive here, the British steamer Director, Captain Dickson, arrived at San Francisco last Saturday seventy-eight days out from Antwerp. She brought 1,700 tons of general European cargo for that port. At San Pedro the freighter discharged a part cargo and has consignments for Victoria and Vancouver. The Director is a freighter of the most modern type, and like other vessels of the fleet to come here, is comparatively new. Word

No wireless reports were received from the Canadian-Australian liner Marana to-day and it is not expected that she will arrive at William Head before to-morrow morning. The stations at the west coast were also unable to communicate with the Canadian Maru, which is expected at quarantine late to-morrow night. Advice received by the local agents of the Bank line, state that the Lucerne, sailed from Yokohama on November 8th, and will reach here on the 23rd of November. She is bringing one hundred and sixty tons of freight for Victoria and has three saloon and fourteen steerage passengers.

PORT SHOULD TAKE IMMEDIATE ACTION

Should Improve Harbor Facilities at Outer Docks—Tacoma Has Six Sets of Plans

That the time between now and the opening of the Panama canal is very short and that Victoria should take active steps immediately for the construction of a harbor at the outer docks, is the sentiment being voiced in many quarters at present. To-day offered an example of the exposed position of the ocean docks of this port, for in the heavy gale which has been raging, it would be almost impossible to dock a vessel.

On different occasions in the past liners have had to anchor in the Roads owing to the heavy seas which rolled in from the strait. The fact that the steamships have to wait many hours for the storm to subside does not add anything to the reputation of this city as a seaport. All the other cities on the coast are arranging the details of their harbor improvements and it is time that Victoria was formulating her plans.

Tacoma is one of the most progressive cities on the Sound, the business men there recognizing what a great advantage it will be to a port to have a good harbor for the berthing of ships. In regard to the improvements for Tacoma, the Ledger has the following to say: "The first public exhibition of the six tentative plans for Tacoma harbor improvements prepared by Virgil Bogue, the engineer, will be made at the Fifth school house one evening next week. This was decided by the Commercial Club and Chamber of Commerce harbor improvement committee. "Up to date but two meetings at the club have been held by the committee to consider the preliminary sketches of Mr. Bogue, and although there has been

Silver Birch and Dunbar at Port Townsend—Winchman on Former Goes Insane

Port Townsend, Wash., Nov. 14.—The British steamers Dunbar and Silver Birch arrived yesterday morning from Norfolk laden with coal for Bremerton. The Silver Birch sailed from Norfolk, August 19, and ten days later arrived at Trinidad.

On August 31, and after leaving that port, the donkey engine man became insane and jumped overboard. A boat was lowered and picked him up, only twenty minutes elapsing from the time the man jumped overboard and when he was brought back to the vessel. The insane man became violent that he was put into a straight jacket and was sent ashore at Pernambuco. The Dunbar made the voyage from Norfolk in 22 days less time than the Silver Birch, as she did not stop at any port en route.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By Ruth Cameron

There is a certain subject on which I have often thought with no satisfactory results. I bring it up to-day in the hope that some of my readers may have chanced to consider the matter with more success.

The subject is "wearing people." I suppose you know the kind of people I mean—those well meaning, often extremely kind-hearted, sometimes highly interesting and entertaining folks, who, despite all their good qualities, somehow seem to wear upon you and tire and inspire you with a sense of relief at their departure.

A girl wrote me about one of these people—a relative of hers. "My cousin is a wonderfully bright girl and keeps us laughing all the time she is here; and yet somehow after she is gone, I always feel less strained and tired."

We sometimes have a specimen of this class in our home. She is the most kind-hearted and well intentioned person possible. She does everything in her power for us and yet we are all worn out if she stays more than a week or two.

Now, what I want to know and can't seem to think out is this—first, what is it that makes wearing people wear and hard to live with, when they try so hard to please, and secondly, how can they get over it, or can't they?

Is it something that can be cured or is it some incurable misfortune like freckles, sandy eyebrows or a pug nose that simply has to be endured?

I am especially keen on this topic just now because a wearing person who—contrary to most of her species—actually realizes that she is wearing, has applied to me for aid.

"I've thought it all out," she says, "and I've decided that I am what people call 'wearing.' Now, can't you tell me just what I do that makes me tire and fret people so, for truly I don't mean to. And can't you please show me some way to get over it? I'd do anything on earth."

Now what am I going to tell this poor lady?

It seems to me that the thing that makes wearing people wearing is, that they are keyed up all the time and that they have a tendency to screw everyone with whom they come into contact up to the same tense key and thus tire them out.

Wherefore I should say that the only possible cure would be to try to unscrew themselves—if that can be done. I am afraid that this is entirely inadequate advice.

Corrections, contributions and suggestions solicited.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

When patent leather shoes begin to look dull and lose their freshness, a few drops of spirits of turpentine applied with a soft cloth will brighten them up so that they look almost like new.

A little known way of cleaning marble (which is not an easy matter) is to steep a quantity of carbonate of soda in water, and to wash the marble with a cloth soaked in this. Leave it for an hour and rinse thoroughly with cold water afterwards.

Soda should not be used when washing oilcloth, as it is apt to take the pattern off; soap and water is more satisfactory, or water to which a little paraffin has been added. You will find that your oilcloths will not need much washing if well waxed and polished.

To Fill Cracks in Floors, Skirting, etc.—Make a paste composed of one tablespoonful of alum and lib. of flour. In this pour two quarts of boiling water and stir over fire until it boils. Then tear newspaper into small pieces and mix into the paste until it is as thick as putty.

Press warm into the cracks. When it hardens it is like paper-mache.

Housekeepers should bear in mind the simple fact of science that heat expands articles of metal, glass, etc., and cold contracts them. If tumblers are slipped into the hot dish-water sideways, so that the heat reaches inside and outside at the same time, they will not crack. Steel knives should not be left with the blades in hot water; the steel expands, and may crack the handles. If the top of a sealer is screwed on so tight that it won't yield to twisting, wrap a cloth wrung from hot water around the tin at the top until it expands, when it can be removed quite easily.

Kerosene or gasoline applied with a cloth will also remove all grease marks from porcelain basins and bath tubs. Rinse well with very hot water.

By tacking large pieces of paste-board to the cellar joists directly in front of the shelves, a clean, dark place for canned fruit is made.

A tape loop on the apron band is a convenience and will save the apron from being torn if hung on a hook. Sew the loop on the "wrong" side of the band.

Simply add a dash of HOLBROOKS GENUINE WORCESTERSHIRE SAUCE. It's a delicious seasoning. Imported Absolutely!!

CHIC VOILE COSTUME.

Late fashion reports tell us that a majority of the new skirts are slashed at the side, not very deep on tailored skirts, but on dressy costumes, such as shown to-day, there is usually an underskirt of different material. In this case it is blue and white striped taffeta and the overdress or tunic is plain blue voile slashed at left side and trimmed with embroidered silk points. The high-waisted bodice is decidedly French with its large waist line. This is also trimmed with silk points and a collar of heavy white lace takes up with the white stripes in underskirt.

How Much of a Man Are You?

Nature intended you to be physically perfect. If there are any defects in your make-up then you are only a piece of a man. It is up to you to remove the effects of dissipation and early indiscretion. Better do it before you are totally debilitated.

If you suffer from weakness of any kind, varicose veins, loss of strength, nervous debility or any trouble that saps your vitality, you ought to read our big, free book, which tells you how you can become strong and vigorous after a few applications of Electro-Vigor. This book is written in plain language and beautifully illustrated with pictures of well-built, robust men and women. It tells what other men have suffered and how they have been cured.

Don't waste your money on drugs, which only stimulate. Electricity is nature's remedy for men like you. Electro-Vigor is the best way of applying it.

Dear Sir:—I have suffered a great deal with rheumatism in my knees. I was unable to work for the last three months, but I am thankful to say that I have found out about this Electro-Vigor. I have used it now for three weeks and can say that I have been greatly helped by it and can recommend it to anyone that has rheumatism. With best wishes to the Electro-Vigor, I am, very truly yours,

Dear Sir:—I have given your appliance a fair test and found it to be all that I claimed for it. I had been troubled with muscular rheumatism and cramps, which now I am glad to say, has all disappeared. I have not had a pain or cramp for over a month. If I could not replace the appliance money could not buy it. Wishing you all success, I remain,

A SOUTHERN ROUTE FOR SOOKE WATER

Wynn Meredith Explains Plans to Aldermen in His Office—Some Interesting Details

A number of the aldermen visited the office of Wynn Meredith, consulting engineer for the Sooke Lake Water scheme, last night, in order to hear his explanation of the report and plans of the preliminary survey work recently carried out by him and his army of field workers, preparatory to the letting of the contract for the laying of the line which will bring in the water supply for the city of Victoria for many years to come. The aldermen present were Messrs. Moresby, Okeil, Gleason, Feden and W. F. Furton. The plans of the proposed work were not laid on the table; they were hung around the walls so that a better perspective might be obtained, and, guided by Mr. Meredith, the aldermen journeyed over the imaginary ground, absorbing the explanations, correcting and strengthening impressions, as they went. Mr. Meredith proved himself an excellent tutor, being thoroughly conversant with his subject from all viewpoints, and the aldermen proved themselves apt pupils, their interest and enthusiasm for the water rendering the many problems in technicality comparatively easy hurdles.

After explaining to his auditors that he favored the southern route and that the drainage area tributary to the lake aggregated about thirty square miles, or 19,500 acres, as against 12,000 acres which was hitherto considered the limit—sixty per cent of the actual runoff of which could be obtained—he stated that the amount that could be saved depended largely upon the capacity of the basin, and added that with a fifty-foot dam located at the south end of the lake a storage capacity of 17,000,000 gallons could easily be had. Mr. Meredith also made the bold assertion that with the Sooke Lake system developed to the same extent as the Goldstream system, a daily supply of 100,000,000 could be obtained without difficulty. He also briefly reviewed the possibility of developing Leech river as a tributary source of supply to the lake. In his opinion it would not offer any very great engineering difficulty.

In bidding for the work contractors will be asked to submit figures for woodstave, steel riveted and concrete pipe. A fine supply of gravel accessory to the work can be secured at the mouth of Sooke harbor, and for that reason a reinforced concrete pipe would present attractive features. Full details will also be given to contractors, who will be expected to tender on a unit basis on a definite amount of rock cutting or excavation, and they will be paid according to what they have to do above or under that quantity. By the adoption of this method all bidders will be tendering on definite stated quantities thus preventing contractors from putting in widely different bids in order to cover unknown possibilities. According to the report of the engineer the pipe line by the southern route will be about twenty-two miles in length, will rest on rock all the way, and will be but lightly covered, being at all times open for inspection and repair. From the reservoir at Humpback bridge the pipe line will follow the E. & N. railroad, that route affording the better grade, will cross Langford Plain and Mill Creek, coming round the end of Parsons Bridge and again linking on to the railroad tracks, which would be followed to a point near Craigflower bridge, across the arm, and thence into the city via George road.

At the present time several prospective bidders are looking over the ground with a view to arranging their tenders. It is expected that by the time the council is in a position to call for tenders a number of ardent contractors will be lined up with competitive bids. Before anything is done, however, Mr. Meredith will have another full dress discussion on the subject with the council.

PASSING SHOW

The Empress Theatre.

"At the Empress theatre this week Louis Del Oro, by the distinction of being one of the most decorated of musicians, offers a novel musical entertainment. He plays both classic and popular selections on the harmonica, and accompanies himself with the harmonopeda, a foot organ, which was invented by him, being worked with a bellows arrangement operated by the feet, and it contains 27 keys. A clever sketch of country life is offered by the Le Verne Barber Company, entitled "The Man Who Knew." It offers comedy, pathos and introduces a pretty little love story. It is a bright little playlet and is well received.

Mondane Phillips, who will be remembered by local theatre-goers as a member of the "Haystack" Company which recently appeared here, made her local debut in vaudeville at the Empress this week. Miss Phillips, who is billed as "The Girl With the Four Voices," does a very good specialty.

Burgos and Clara, who are doing an acrobatic turn at the Empress theatre this week, are recently from the New York and London newspapers. They include lariat-throwing, head balancing, shooting and rope-walking among their feats.

Barnard and Arnold, two young comedians who appeal to the risibilities of Empress patrons this week, have a good turn. They sing, dance and have a line of curb-stone conversation that amuses. This team recently played at several of the New York vaudeville houses and is making the first western tour on the Sullivan & Considine circuit. The Empresscope offers some good films.

CHINESE MISSION IS REMODELLED

METHODIST CHURCH
EXTENDS BUILDINGS

Influence of Fisguard Street
Institution Will Be Greatly Increased

The Chinese Methodist mission on Fisguard street has been remodelled during the past few months and last evening the home was thrown open to the friends of the institution and formally reopened. In the thirty years which have elapsed since this mission first commenced its work among the Chinese residents of this city it has been doing splendid service, and has maintained a high standard for the problem as regards that race here. The work has repeatedly outgrown the facilities of the home and a year ago it was decided to undertake extensive additions and alterations which would give some well-required accommodation and permit of the extension of the work in several directions in which it was felt that excellent results could be obtained.

The new portion of the mission provides a well-equipped gymnasium for the Chinese youths, seventeen bedrooms, bathroom, kitchen, quarters for the native missionary, Rev. Chan Yu Tau, and his family, and a room for Rev. E. G. Hartwell, superintendent of Methodist Oriental missions in B. C., to occupy on his visits to this city. The provision of a sleeping accommodation enables the mission to carry out a long-cherished scheme and will undoubtedly strengthen the work, as it will bring some twenty or more of the students in constant contact with Christian influences and greatly assist the work generally. There is also a large auditorium and rooms for the day and night schools. The day school has about fifty classes are attended by about eighty-five. The cost of the new building will be $12,000, and towards this the local Chinese have contributed $1,000.

Yesterday afternoon a reception was held and many friends of the mission inspected the building. All were loud in their praise of what has been done. Afternoon tea was served, among the ladies assisting at this pleasing function being Mrs. T. E. Holling, Mrs. A. N. Miller, Mrs. J. A. Wood, Mrs. Thos. Keyworth, Mrs. Devereaux, teacher at the school; Mrs. Wheeler, Miss Smith, patron of the home; Miss A. T. Martin, Miss Agnes Spencer, Miss Creamer and Miss Schaffer. In the evening there was an entertainment in the auditorium, in which several of the Chinese took part. The Metropolitan Methodist church orchestra was also in attendance and rendered several selections. Short addresses were made by Rev. A. E. Roberts, Chilliwack, president of the B. C. Methodist Conference; Rev. E. G. Hartwell, Rev. T. E. Holling, Rev. A. N. Miller and others.

At the Sunday services in the mission the speakers included Mr. Dickman, who is in charge of the Chinese mission work in Vancouver; Mr. Lum, of the Anglican Chinese mission here; and Mr. Hall, of the Presbyterian Chinese mission, all of whom congratulated the Victoria Methodists warmly on the energy they had displayed in so greatly increasing the usefulness of this mission. Rev. E. G. Hartwell was the speaker at the evening service. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered at both services to about fifty devout and reverent communicants. Sunday school was held as usual in the afternoon, when the Metropolitan orchestra played and was much appreciated.

RODGERS SAYS HE WILL FINISH FLIGHT

Injured Aviator Believes He Will Complete Trip in Ten Days

Pasadena, Cal., Nov. 14.—Galbraith P. Rodgers, the transcontinental aviator, awoke for a few minutes yesterday from the semi-coma which followed his fall Sunday when within only a few miles of completing his ocean-to-ocean flight, and muttered to his attendants: "Oh, I'll finish that flight all right." The aviator, who suffered concussion of the brain in his fall of more than 100 feet at Compton, when bound for the actual salt water terminus of his cross-continent trip, added that he expected to complete his flight just as soon as he is sufficiently recovered from the bruises and sprains resulting from the accident.

His physicians said his injuries would result in no complications, and it was expected that he would be able to complete his trip in about ten days. Meanwhile his aeroplane, which was shattered in the fall, is being rebuilt at Long Beach.

Rodgers regained complete consciousness late last night. He sat up in bed, smoked a cigar and talked a little to his physicians and a few friends.

"It was an accident," he said, "such as any aviator may expect. I don't know what caused it. Something may have broken, or I may have temporarily lost control. I can't say. Anyway, I know I hit the ground a mighty hard whack. But it's all in the game.

"I am going to finish that flight," continued the aviator, "and finish it with that same machine. But it won't be on Sunday. I'm firmly convinced now that Sunday is my hoodoo day. Nearly all of my bad accidents have happened on that day. I'm accused of having a charmed life, and maybe I have, but I'm not a fool, and am not going to tempt fate any more than necessary. So there will be no more Sunday flying for mine."

The surgeons at the hospital last night said that Rodgers would be out and around by Wednesday. The mechanics who took the wrecked biplane to Long Beach, worked hard all day and last night pronounced it in good condition and ready for a flight. It will be taken to the spot in the field south of Compton where the accident occurred, and Rodgers will finish his flight from that point. Just when the start will be made has not yet been determined by the aviator.

JOSEPH PULITZER'S WILL

New York, Nov. 14.—The terms of the will of Joseph Pulitzer were made public yesterday. Its conspicuous features are the ratification of the gift of $1,000,000 to Columbia university for establishing a school of journalism and also the ratification of an additional $1,000,000 subject to certain conditions which if not complied with by Columbia before the amount is paid over, will result in the sum going to Harvard university, one-half of it for a school of journalism and one-half for many unusual prizes and scholarships as set forth in the will.

In addition to outlining at length the school of journalism plan, the document sets forth a large number of interesting bequests not previously known. Among these is $250,000 for a scholarship fund at Columbia university; $500,000 to the Metropolitan Museum of Art; $100,000 to the Philharmonic Society of New York; $100,000 to Mr. Pulitzer's faithful valet, Jabez Dunningham; $100,000 to be distributed by the executors among his personal secretaries, readers and companions, and certain editorial writers employed on the World; $25,000 for the erection of a statue of Thomas Jefferson in New York city, and some minor bequests.

The capital stock of his two newspapers, the New York World and St. Louis Post-Dispatch, are left in trust for his sons and their male issue during the lives of the two younger sons.

A codicil attached in 1909 divides these interests as follows: To Herbert Mathe, youngest son, six tenths, to Ralph, two tenths, to Joseph, one tenth, and the remainder to be held for the benefit of the principal editors and managers of the newspapers, whom the trustees may regard as the most deserving and valuable from time to time upon the expiration of the trust estate, that one tenth of the stock of each of the companies shall be sold to one or more of the principal editors or managers of each of said newspapers, whom the trustees may consider most deserving in point of ability and integrity.

DEATH THROUGH WASP STING

A wasp sting was represented in the Appeal court, London, as an "accident" for which one could claim under the Workmen's Compensation Act. Whilst threshing wheat on a Norfolk farm last October a man named Amys complained that he was stung by a wasp. He died from blood poisoning, and the county court judge found for his family on a compensation claim. There was an appeal on the grounds (1) that there was no evidence of a wasp sting during employment; (2) or that there had been an accident arising out of employment.

The Master of the Rolls said the county court judge, without any evidence, seemed to have arrived at the conclusion that the wasps were at the time probably liberating in the stack on which Amys was engaged threshing, and that the engine induced them to come out and sting the man. There was no evidence to justify any such finding. The appeal must be allowed.

The Lord Justices concurred.

An illustration was suggested. A box with breathing spaces contained a Belgian hare.

"Here, you see," said the discusor, "is a very valuable animal. Probably it is worth thousands."

"Is that so?" said the owner of the business. "I never thought of that. Let's have a look at it."

The top of the box was ripped off, the hare jumped out and ran away a mile a minute.

The expressman scratched his head as he watched the vanishing act. "I guess he's a valuable animal, all right," was his observation, "but he hasn't got much sense. He doesn't know where he's going, because his address is on the box."—Chicago Evening Post.

HEAVY WIND DOES DAMAGE IN CITY

ROOFS, FENCES AND POWER WIRES SUFFER

Severe Gale Centred Off West Coast—Elsewhere Intense Cold Prevails

The weather conditions to-day are decidedly unsettled. A severe gale is raging all along the coast, centred off Vancouver Island. Last night the cold dip continued throughout northern British Columbia, the temperature being fifteen above at Prince Rupert, with the skies clear and no snow. It is six below at Barkerville to-day with a light snowfall. Zero weather is reported from Atlin and the Yukon.

High west and southwest winds have prevailed here since early morning, following a sharp turn upwards in the barometer. It has been blowing in gusty squalls all day, at a rate of thirty-five to forty miles an hour. Around eight o'clock this morning the wind attained a velocity of forty miles an hour for a minute or so at a time in gusts. Rain fell at intervals, although now and then the sun broke through the heavy clouds for a short time and it became quite warm for a while.

There are no reports from the American coast points this morning but it is expected that they are all feeling the storm which is centred off this island. The cold has increased on the prairies, several places, including Edmonton and Swift Current, to-day reporting twenty below zero. At Port Arthur, on Lake Superior, it is two below, which is exceptionally low for that part of the country so early in the winter. The cold wave which yesterday spread across the middle west states has extended to the Atlantic ocean.

The wind played havoc with wires, trees, and fences in Victoria. The most serious damage done was the stripping of the roof off the building occupied by Duncan & Grey at 1591 Wharf street. The wind seized this as if it had been so much paper, ripped the tin off and deposited the mass on the opposite side of Wharf street, part of the brick side wall being torn down at the same time. It was probably the same gust that caught the coping of the front wall of the Victoria Truck and Dray company's office nearly opposite and caused it to bulge out at a dangerous angle. The sidewalk has had to be pulled off to protect pedestrians.

The B. C. Electric and the B. C. Telephone service suffered somewhat from broken connections, falling branches of trees having in several cases carried away wires. There was a stoppage of some minutes in the car service from this cause early this morning and the delay affected industrial concerns also.

CHARGES DISMISSED

Unfounded Allegations Made by Rena Leduc, Who is Accused of Perjury.

Quebec, Nov. 14.—Justice Langelier yesterday rendered judgment on the Quebec East election case, dismissing the charges which were preferred against Louis Letourneau, M. P. P. for Quebec East, and Elie De Poyre, who was accused of having paid the sum of $5,000 to Rena Leduc and also having guaranteed him a government position of $1,500 a year to induce him to withdraw from candidature in Quebec East and to permit Sir Wilfrid Laurier to be elected by acclamation. Judgment was served on Leduc and his wife, accusing both of having perjured themselves.

His Honor said: "Leduc became a candidate in Quebec East with the object of making money. As he had said to two of the witnesses, 'money talks.' He perceived that his candidacy was elected by acclamation. Judgment was served on Leduc and his wife, accusing both of having perjured themselves. He began by wishing to obtain money and a position and modestly asked for $5,000. Not being able to secure money, he resigned purely and simply in the hope that later his conduct would be remembered."

President Konekamp Relates Peculiar Incident Concerning McNamara Case

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Konekamp arrived in the city yesterday and left on the afternoon boat to-day for Seattle, en route to San Francisco. Mr. Konekamp is national president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, and, at the present time, is making a 2,000-mile tour in connection with the union, with the intention of organizing a campaign for the betterment of conditions, which will be put into operation next year. The visitor is now collecting, by personal investigation, the necessary information upon which that movement will be based.

Very satisfactory progress has been made at all points. "Yet," he said to-day: "There is a terrible amount of dissatisfaction among telegraph operators, I find, throughout the country. Their wages have not advanced in the same proportion as the cost of living, particularly on the Pacific coast. The wages are now, in fact, lower than they were thirty years ago."

Referring to Canadian conditions he said: "I find the conditions here, so far as the C. P. R. is concerned, slightly in advance of any other companies in Canada. We have been organizing the Western-Union men, but have met with opposition from the company."

Alluding to the McNamara trial, Mr. Konekamp told a peculiar story in connection with the case. When he was attending the big convention at St. Louis last year of the American Federation of Labor, he was talking to Joe Harriman, the attorney for the accused, and recently Socialist candidate for Los Angeles. They were discussing the explosion at the terrible building, with its terrible consequences, and Harriman said to him: "Mark you, they are going to find someone to blame for the accident and I don't know who it is going to be, but there will certainly be some one, and they will keep after him till they get him."

While this conversation was going on one of the McNamaras was standing close by, and heard the conversation.

Mr. Konekamp added that he was content the explosion at the Times building was due to gas, and that it contained every feature of a gas explosion, and not that of dynamite.

"I may tell you," he went on, "that two telegraph operators who smelt gas in the building on the evening of the explosion, one of whom protested against working with such an offensive smell of the illuminant, were discharged and blacklisted for giving this testimony."

Mr. Konekamp will go on to Los Angeles after completing his business in San Francisco.

EXAMINATIONS FOR THE CIVIL SERVICE

Candidates Writing To-day on Preliminary Papers—Cadet Candidates

The usual November civil service examinations began this morning in the post office building, when five candidates presented themselves to write on the preliminary papers which have been set by the civil service commission for the outside service. All siders are the young men of this city. Rev. John Campbell, D.D., is conducting the examination. The subjects in which the candidates have to satisfy the board are penmanship, arithmetic, dictation and spelling. The result of this examination will be known about the middle of December.

To-morrow morning at 8.30 the qualifying examination for the civil service will commence, and at the same time will be begun an examination for those who wish to enter the naval college at Halifax. It is interesting to note in the latter connection that in the last examination held for this purpose Maltland Douglass, Duncan, who wrote here, headed the Dominion and is now a naval cadet at the college.

PRISONER WAS WOUNDED.

Vancouver, Nov. 14.—After having remained in a cell with several others at the police station for several hours, a man giving the name of Alex. Deurie, was found this morning to have a cut an inch and a quarter long and quite deep in his left shoulder, said to have been caused by a knife wound. When going his rounds the jailer found him smoking a cigarette with blood streaming out of his shoulder.

Dr. McTavish was at once brought to the station in the police patrol and he ordered the man's removal to the hospital, where he was taken in the police ambulance. Deurie was laughing and did not seem to think the wound was serious, but the doctor thought that had he been left he would have bled to death in a short time. The man gave no explanation of the wound.

UNCOOKERY RIVALS PAPER BAG COOKERY

Campaign in London Threatens to Break Up Vegetarian Propaganda

Those tendencies to a smokeless era illustrated in The London Standard by recent experiments in railway locomotion have other and quite different manifestations. A vigorous campaign has been started in London in favor of smokeless cookery, or, more correctly, the abolition of cookery altogether, and on a recent day a number of ladies and gentlemen, fashionable pursuers of the ideal in food, sat down to a lunch which was long and elaborate, but entirely raw. The meal of the future, it appears, is to be not so much cooked as collected, and Over Meredith is to be amended for our grandchildren to the following effect: We may live without poetry, music, and art. We may live without conscience and live without heart. We may live without friends, we may live without books. And civilized man can live without cooks.

The feast was given by W. B. Shearn at his "unfired food" restaurant in Tottenham Court-road. Several had come apprehensive that they were to be requested to eat raw beef, but the menu was entirely vegetarian. The new campaign, indeed, represents a threatened split in the vegetarian ranks. The hors d'oeuvres consisted of one slice of tomato, one slice of cucumber, three flakes of raw mushroom, and an olive, over which was scattered powdered verdure of an unknown nature. An attractive color scheme and pleasant to eat.

We proceeded (writes the Standard representative) to carrot soup made of grated raw carrot suspended in the juice of succulent vegetables. Those who preferred a clear soup had one made of grape and apple sauce. Both, of course, were cold—the application of heat to anything being taboo. For wines to warm us up we had something called "time wazale," and the wines of the pineapple, the grape, and the apricot. We proceeded through a bewildering variety of strange and delicate flavors, fruit and vegetable separately, fruit and vegetable combined, with one brief excursion among flowers. It was all very interesting, particularly when, now and again, we got whiffs of flavor that evoked memories of our early school days, when we used to steal turnips out of the fields and sit down gnawing them under the hedge.

But, whereas on the left of our plates there was a shining battery of forks, on the right there was not a knife at all save one silver apparatus for stirring fruit, and on the tables were no saltcellars. These things produced a slight atmosphere of the uncanny. The stuffed tomatoes and lettuce were pleasant, but comparatively banal, the entree of cottage cheese almonds was of that sort which we regard as revolting, but the nut rissole and chrysanthemum salad, the chrysanthemum salad, was nice, with a flavor like the smell of greenhouses, but one felt that in the chewing of the long and delicately curled petals of crimson, lilac, yellow, and cream-white there was something of that wariness which these foreboding butchers' meat are striving to avoid. A sentimentalist certainly would say that it is far more barbarous to devour beautiful flowers than to eat beef.

A dish, described on the menu as "walnut and spinach morceau," which consisted of an artistic pattern of raw apple slices arranged round a powdered substance of indiscernible but appetizing character, followed, and then we had a preparation of chopped spinach and cream. This sounds startling, but tastes delicious. The real curiosity of the meal, however, was the raw Christmas pudding. It was made of apple slices and fruit, and while it looked remarkably like the real thing, had a pliancy of flavor all its own.

The cold festivity of the occasion was enhanced by mince pies, singularly realistic in appearance, but with the pastry, of course, a concoction of raw cereals and nuts. This sounds harsh and chilly, but really the effect was quite soft and pastry-like and certainly about the meal there was none of that Barnacle atmosphere one gets with the nut-mutton chops, mock duck, and mock-mock-turtle soup upon which one is expected to fatten in certain vegetarian restaurants.

The dessert included some things that might have been served raisins and currants left to go cold. Described as "swelled fruit," they were, in fact, the dried fruit cooked for a long time in cold water. By this means all the flavor is retained. To crumble between courses we had somebody's "unfired bread," made of cereals crushed together with nut butter. It was appetizing, and we ate a lot of it.

It was a relief at the end to learn that we were not expected to consume our tobacco unfired, but one found on lighting one of the cigarettes provided that one had been seduced into smoking a blend of unfamiliar herbs—presumably some health mixture. It was not unpleasant—but it was not tobacco.

As for the general effect of the meal, it must be admitted that it was a revelation of delicate flavors which we miss by cooking. But though an occasional morsel of the kind would be a pleasant novelty, it is a weary prospect to think of eating nothing else for ever, and from certain confessions which one guest overheard as he ate, it is to be feared that few adherents of the cult of the uncooked are entirely faithful. In the dock-days this lunch would be the ideal meal, but it must be confessed that on a rainy-day towards the end of October the total effect was somewhat icy.

SALVATION LASS IS PURSUED IN STREET

Persistent Love-Maker Declares His Ardor on the Cold Thoroughfare

The amorous but honorable intentions of an Italian towards a Salvation lass of the Victoria Salvation Army led to the appearance of the Italian in the police court dock this morning to answer a charge of assault preferred against him by the lady who kept demurely in the police clerk's room while the court proceedings were in progress.

Having been in the police cells over night the Italian looked anything but amorous this morning, and meekly received the rebuke of the magistrate for pressing his unwelcome attentions upon the lady, who looked very prepossessing in her blue bonnet and other Salvation Army attire.

The story she told the magistrate was that for some days the Italian has been following her on the street. On one occasion his ardor became so strong that he approached her and said he would like to marry her. His offer was rebuffed by the surprised maiden, who became uneasy when she found that her swain was always in her wake.

Last night the Italian love affair reached its climax, when the inspired Italian seized the object of his affection by the arm and fervently protested his undying affection for her. Previously having received a letter from him offering marriage the lady decided to put an end to the matter and obtained the assistance of the police.

This morning the Italian, after a night in jail, listened intently to the magistrate, as he explained that, although Victoria is the Venice of Canada, the Venetian love-making ardor is entirely out of place here, especially on the public street.

D. R. YOUNG HAS CONTRACTED FOR THE PURCHASE OF TWO BLOCKS OF SHARES, OF 100,000 EACH, and they are being sold by A. E. KEALY for the Purchaser

Latest information direct from Queen Charlotte is to the effect that the diamond drill is already down 200 feet, and making fifteen feet each day in coal formation, and expect to cut through a seam of coal any hour. It has therefore been decided to Advance the Stock to 25c Per Share on and after Monday, the 20th Day of November, 1911 and as soon as the seams of coal, that are undoubtedly there, are passed through by the diamond drill this stock should go to $1.00

Wireless reports will be published every Saturday direct from Queen Charlotte.

You can surely make $10 in 7 days on a $15 investment by buying now

With ninety-five chances out of a hundred of making $85 on a $15 investment in less than two months.

$85.00 Profit in Two Months on an Investment of $15.00 is Good Enough for Anyone

Read this offer over carefully. Be sure that it is right, then don't wait. The owners take a chance with you. They put up the coal lands and you put up the money to prove the coal, one-half of the stock for you and one-half for them. This is one of the fairest and best offers ever made to the public under iron-clad conditions. A business proposition from start to finish, there is nothing on the market like it. Leases and Crown Grants to over 3500 acres of the best coal lands on Queen Charlotte Islands are being conveyed free from all encumbrances to the NORTHERN ANTHRACITE COLLIERIES, LTD, capital stock 1,500,000 shares, par value of $1.00 each; one-half of this stock for the treasury and one-half for the owners of the land. 200,000 shares of this stock have been contracted for and are being sold by A. E. Kealy as follows: The first 50,000 of these shares of par value of $1.00 each, non-assessable and fully paid up, are now offered for sale at 15c, 5c with application, 5c in 30 days and 5c in 60 days. The proceeds from this block of stock will be used in proving these coal lands with a Diamond Drill. The proceeds from this first block of stock will be sufficient to put down at least two or more boreholes of 1,000 feet each. This will undoubtedly cut one or two seams of splendid coal, then see your stock jump.

Now use your own judgment, but consider carefully what your chances are of making $85.00 on an investment of $15.00 in two months, or $1,000 on an investment of $150, for as sure as the sun rises and sets this stock will go to at least $1.00 as soon as the drill cuts through the seams of splendid coal that are surely there, according to all experts' reports of the highest obtainable authority, who have reported on the Queen Charlotte Islands coal measures, as follows: T. B. Marshall, F.C.S., 1902; Dr. Geo. M. Dawson, D.S., A.R.A.S.M., F.G.S., 1902; H. E. Parrish, John J. Langdale, 1867; James Deans, 1872; James Parkinson, 1888; R. W. Ellis, 1906; T. B. Cory, of the State of Washington, U. S. A., and our own expert, C. F. J. Galloway, B.S.C., who is among the best authorities in B. C.

These reports cover the first Wilson-Robertson coal fields three miles north of this coal land; second, the OLD COW-GATE coal fields, almost adjoining on the west; third, the Alfred Bay coal fields on the south; and fourth, the company's own coal, all of which are positive evidence that this is one of the best coal fields on Queen Charlotte Islands. Situated on Graham Island, Bearskin Bay, one of the best harbors in the north, at the gateway of transportation to all points of the world, and at the very doors of Queen Charlotte City, in fact a portion of this coal underlies the townsite. No railroads to build, just load the coal from the mines to the boats. These are facts that defy contradiction.

How many times in your life have you had a chance like this? A square deal for once at least in a stock proposition, with almost a certainty of the stock being worth $1.00 before you have made your third payment at 15c.

For further information call or write to ARNOLD E. KEALY, 506 Pacific Building, where the report of C. F. J. Galloway, B.S.C., on this coal land can be seen. His report is all that could be asked, practically saying that the coal is there beyond a doubt with sufficient evidence in sight to warrant drilling and development work at once.

PARAGRAPH FROM MR. GALLOWAY'S REPORT.

"The easiest seam to prove will be the Cowitz, as its horizon is known. I should, therefore, recommend you to put down a borehole near the eastern end of your easternmost section. At the point marked C on the map the position of this seam should be passed through at a depth of about 500 feet, the Camp Anthracite seam being probably passed through in the same hole, if it occurs at all in this locality."

All promoters' stock will be pooled until $200,000 has been raised for the purpose of developing the mine.

In conclusion you will have the satisfaction of knowing that your money is all going into proving the coal is there, not into the promoters' pockets or to pay for a dead horse of any kind, as the coal leases and titles are all paid for and clear of all encumbrances and will always be a valuable asset. Fill out the application form for any number of shares you want, and address your application to Arnold E. Kealy, 506 Pacific Building, Vancouver, B. C. All cheques, or money orders should be made out to him. You are requested to make any enquiries not answered in this advertisement, which will receive a prompt answer. The solicitors for all concerned are Burns & Walkem, 415 Winch Building.

NEW WHARVES AND BUNKERS PLANNED

Contract for Work on Newcastle Townsite Has Been Awarded.

Nanaimo, Nov. 11.—The Vancouver-Nanaimo Coal Company has awarded a contract to Messrs. Rennie, Campbell and Tremblay of Vancouver for the construction of wharves and bunkers on Newcastle Townsite involving an estimated expenditure of $50,000.

The wharves are to be erected on land purchased by the company in the vicinity of the provincial jail, and will be connected by incline with bunkers which are to be constructed near the Lady Smith Lumber Company's siding.

The bunkers are to have a capacity of 1,000 tons, and the incline is to be operated with cars of three tons capacity, by the gravity system, the whole scheme being originated by the company's manager, Harry N. Freeman. The present output of the company's mines at East Wellington is 600 tons daily, and the loading apparatus at the Townsite has a capacity of 800 tons of eight hours. Work on the construction of the bunkers and wharves will be started as soon as the weather moderates, and they are expected to be in operation by February 1.

The highest church steeple in the world is that of the Cathedral of Antwerp, 426 feet.

The ADVANCE MAN

"Mother."

The simple life lost a fascinating devotee when Kate Putnam agreed to return to the stage to play the title role in the Jules Eckert Goodman's gripping human play "Mother," which will be presented at the Victoria theatre to-night.

Living on her farm in Michigan, Miss Putnam was growing very forgetful of things theatrical, content to have spent her days on the stage when actors had to work hard, and see less of society than they do at present. She was becoming a theatrical Rip Van Winkle when she received a long distance call from William A. Brady, an old friend of hers, offering her the title role in "Mother." Miss Putnam at first refused the offer, but finally agreed to accept the part and she is now back on the stage shaking hands every day with old friends who are glad to see their old favorite who was to the earlier days what Miss Billie Burke has become to the present.

"The Country Boy." The production of "The Country Boy" last season at the Liberty theatre, New York, served to shatter several old traditions.

In the first place, it has always been held that two persons of the same family could not have separate plays produced on Broadway at the same time, and each have a success. This can be said to hold true no longer, because two of the biggest successes of the past year were written by man and wife, Edgar Selwyn, the actor-playwright, is the author of "The Country Boy," which will be the attraction at the Victoria theatre Thursday and Friday evenings, while his charming and accomplished wife, Margaret Mayo, wrote "Baby Mine," another successful piece.

A second tradition says that dire calamity will surely come where husband and wife are both geniuses, but the only calamity that has befallen the Selwyns so far, as one which most of us would like, and that is, large cheques coming in regularly from their successful plays.

Then there is another old tradition that marriages in the theatrical world are not happy. Most people who are familiar with theatricals know that this tradition has been exploded long ago, and the happy life and devotion to each other of the Selwyns is but another example of the absurdity of this cant about unhappy theatrical marriages. The Selwyns have been married ten years and were engaged two years. They first met when they were playing in "Secret Service."

ROAD HAS SLUSH FUND.

F. T. Congdon Will Appear Against White Pass Railroad.

A sensation is promised for the meeting of the railway commission at Ottawa on the 15th when, it is alleged, evidence will be introduced by Fred Congdon, ex-M. P., to the effect that the White Pass & Yukon railroad, an application concerning whose rates is to come up at the meeting, has been maintaining a secret rebate fund.

The application to be heard on the 15th is one made by the Dawson Board of Trade complaining that the road is charging excessive rates. It was heard at a previous sitting and adjourned, the board meanwhile going over the route, estimating the cost of maintenance, etc. It is now up for a rehearing, and it is at this that sensational evidence is to be introduced.

F. D. Congdon appeared for the Dawson Board of Trade at the first hearing of the case and has been digging into the matter since. He has, according to a story published in the White Horse Star newspaper, now disclosed his possession of evidence which, it is alleged, will prove the road has all along maintained what is known as a "slush" or "earnings reserve fund," which is formed by setting aside a certain portion of the freight and passenger earnings which are never included in the company's reports to the government or shareholders, this fund being used, it is said, to pay rebates to favored shippers and passengers.

The evidence now in Mr. Congdon's possession, according to the story, goes to show that in the last eleven years rebates, etc., have been paid amounting to $1,891,000 and over $21,000 during the past year. Further evidence is said to show that $800,000 was illegally paid between 1903 and 1910 to eliminate competition. Thus, according to the statement, over $2,500,000 has been taken from shippers and other patrons of the road in high rates for the benefit of a favored few within the past eleven years or an average of about a quarter of a million per year.

FEDERATION OF LABOR.

President Gompers Refers to Sentence Imposed by Mr. Justice Wright.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 14.—With chattering teeth, citizens yesterday prefaced with apologies addresses of welcome to the 400 delegates at the opening session of the American Federation of Labor convention. They frankly admitted they had failed to fulfill promises of "sunshine and flowers," made last year when they got the convention. Inefficient heating facilities in the convention hall and the sudden cold wave were responsible.

President Gompers read his annual report at the afternoon session. Most significant of the day's utterances was that of Mr. Gompers in responding to the addresses of welcome when he declared that he, Secretary Morrison and John Mitchell were ready to go to jail in defence of labor's right. If the court sentence of Mr. Justice Wright of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, was sustained.

All the contested delegates were seated on recommendations of the credentials committee.

Richmond, Va., is making a strong bid for the 1912 convention, but it is understood that the next meeting will go to the Pacific coast, possibly Los Angeles.

No signs of the threatened "insurgency" against the present administration have appeared, although some of the delegates predict that opposition will develop.

The federation voted unanimously to instruct President Gompers to send a message to the McNamara brothers in jail at Los Angeles charged with dynamiting the Times building, that the members of the organization are firm in the belief that they are innocent and assuring them of their continued support.

The action followed the reading of a telegram from the McNamaras which, after extending greetings, said: Permit us sincerely to thank the federation officers and through them representatives of the affiliated organizations for their untiring efforts in our behalf."

FOUNDING OF SEATTLE.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 14.—Seattle was founded sixty years ago yesterday by a party of emigrants from Portland, headed by the families of Arthur A. Denny and David T. Denny. Tennesseeans, the expedition coming direct from Oregon for the express purpose of establishing a city. They named the settlement after an Indian chief, with whom the settlers lived on terms of close friendship until his death fourteen years later. The pioneer families located farms on what is now the site of a great city, and their descendants are among the richest people in the Northwest. The birthday was celebrated by a banquet by the Chamber of Commerce, at which addresses were made by former Senators John L. Wilson and Samuel H. Piles; Alder J. Blethen and others.

BLAZE AT JEUENAU.

Jeuenu, Nov. 14.—Fire broke out yesterday on the property of the Union Wharf Company while a tremendous gale was blowing, and threatened for a time to destroy the whole waterfront, but it was confined to the buildings of the company, which were ruined. Loss $50,000. The Douglas and Treadwell fire companies came by boat and helped the Jeuenu firemen to battle with the flames.

Why is it that a fly can always find the hole in a screen from the outside, but never from the inside?

Sickness is usually caused by the accumulation of waste matter and impurities within the body.

INQUIRIES OF THE ELECTION LAW

How McBride Machine Works to Keep Names on Voters' Lists

(Saturday Sunnet)

It is pretty generally agreed that the law concerning elections and the franchise is one of the loosest and most dangerous of the many vicious enactments that disfigure the provincial statute books. It was originally drawn by a partisan official, for a partisan government, for purely partisan purposes, and in many instances those responsible for its administration have bettered the intentions of its makers by deliberately ignoring or high-handedly over-riding its plainest provisions.

It is true that the long apathy and lack of organization of the Liberals of British Columbia have in many cases not made it necessary for the registration officials of the McBride government to carry to extremes the arbitrary and unfair abuse of the powers conferred upon them under the Elections Act. But now that a new spirit of energy and aggression is animating the Liberals and that it is daily becoming more evident that the landslide on September 21 is regarded by them as proof positive of the necessity for building Liberalism in this province from the ground right up, the evidence is conclusive that they will not be able to count on a squeal deal from the officials whose duty it is to administer the law without respect to persons. The machinery of the McBride government will, in this as in everything else, operate with ease and power whenever the interests of its owners, masters and friends will be benefited thereby, but there will be no steam in the boiler whenever its working may prejudice, either immediately or remotely, the dead immortal cinch that Messrs. McBride and Bowser to-day enjoy by grace of the electors of British Columbia.

The semi-annual Courts of Revision, for the purpose of adding and removing names from the provincial voters' lists, have been held this week, and, at least in Vancouver, the proceedings were an unblushing travesty of justice and fairness and a cynical comment on the McBride government's theory of representative institutions. Literally hundreds of names that under the law should have been stricken from the lists were retained thereon by an unwarrantable and arbitrary ruling of the registrar, who made it plain that obedience to the high behests of his political bosses was, in his opinion, far more desirable virtue than a faithful and impartial administration of the law.

Summarized briefly, the facts are as follows. The present lists for the provincial constituency of Vancouver are eight years old. Every six months since the primary registration took place, names have been added thereto and taken therefrom at each succeeding Court of Revision. So far as this work has been the result of organized effort, the changes have been made almost wholly by the Conservatives. The recent election proved to a demonstration the value and the necessity of such work to the political party undertaking it, and the Liberals determined to do likewise. The list contained the names of some 22,000 voters. Of these only one-half presented themselves at the polls on election day—thus proving that 11,000 voters were either no longer residents or that they did not interest themselves sufficiently in public affairs to exercise their franchise. Of the 11,000 who did vote, not 40 per cent. were to be found at the addresses given in the voters' list as their place of residence. A large proportion of them no longer lived in the city, having moved to North or South Vancouver, to Elburne, Shaughnessy Heights or Point Grey. These places are all in the provincial constituency of Richmond, and while persons resident there have every right to be registered as Richmond voters, they have no more right to a vote in Vancouver than they have to a vote in Timbuctoo.

The Liberals, as the result of information secured by their election canvass, objected to some 4,700 names being retained on the list. The Conservatives likewise objected to some 2,000. The method of dealing with the names so objected to is distinctly set forth in the Act. The registrar has to advertise the names of the persons objected to in the local papers. Furthermore, he has to notify the voter by letter, to the address registered in the "voters' list, of the fact that an objection has been filed to the retention of his name, and advising him of the date and place at which the Court of Revision will be held, that he may appear and either personally or by a representative defend his right to the franchise in case the objection is not well founded.

Of the 6,700 voters whose names had been objected to, some hundreds, in the thirty-day interval between the publication of the names and the holding of the Court of Revision, furnished satisfactory evidence that they were still entitled to be voters. In almost all these cases the men in question had moved from one part of the city to another, but had neglected to forward to the registrar notification of their change of address.

The Court of Revision met on Monday, as provided by law. At the outset of the proceedings Mr. Victor Love, secretary of the Conservative Club, presented to the registrar a list of about 700 names. These had all been objected to, and in every one of these cases he desired the registrar to ignore, disregard and throw out objection and retain the name on the voters' list, on the ground that all the men in question had voted in the Dominion election on September 21, that being, in his opinion, sufficient warranty for the registrar's assuming that the men were still resident in the city, and therefore entitled to vote.

Mr. Love would not state that he had been personally instructed by the voters in question to appear in their behalf. Nor would he take the responsibility of swearing that the men were residents. He would not even swear that they had voted on September 21.

WORLD'S GREATEST KIDNEY REMEDY

HUNDREDS CURED BY TAKING "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

*Williamstown, Ont., July 27.
 "Last spring I had a severe attack of Kidney and Bladder Trouble, and 'Fruit-a-tives' cured those complaints when the physician attending me had given me up."

"JAMES DINGWALL."
 The cause of Kidney Congestion and Pain in the Back is that the bowels are badly constipated and the skin is inactive. Thus the kidneys are forced to do double work in ridding the system of impurities—and become strained.

"Fruit-a-tives"—the great fruit medicine—acts on bowels, liver and skin, as well as on the kidneys—rids the system of all impurities and completely cures all kidney congestion and pain in the back.

Fifty cents a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size 25c. At all dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

The list he submitted contained, not the present actual addresses of the men named, but their addresses as given in the voters' list, at which, in every case, investigated, the men in question were not known.

The registrar listened to this cool demand with proper judicial gravity, and enquired of those acting on behalf of the Liberals, whether there were any objections to the request of Mr. Love. Though the amazing effrontery of the move made them nearly breathless, the Liberals had objections aplenty. They pointed out that the procedure in case of objections to a name remaining on the list was clear, set forth in the Act, and pointed out that Mr. Love's request was a distinct violation of the statute—that no evidence had been offered in proof that the men still lived in Vancouver, that it was notorious that hundreds of men whose names were on the list for September 21 were no longer residents of Vancouver—as proved by the numbers that came in from Victoria, Seattle, Nanaimo and up-country points to vote on that occasion. They stated repeatedly that they had no desire whatever to deprive any qualified voter of his franchise, and that if Mr. Love would give the court the present addresses of any men on his list, they would at once withdraw their objection in all such cases. They pointed out that none of the men in question had come forward after official notice, to defend their right to be on the list, and that, in addition to the protection given to every voter under the Act, supplementary measures had been taken by both political parties, which had kept their offices open night and day that qualified voters improperly objected to might sign the necessary certificates to enable them to keep their voting rights. Further, they pointed out to the registrar that if the tactics adopted by Mr. Love in this instance were allowed by the registrar and followed by both sides, any purging of the lists would be impossible, and the Court of Revision would be the merest farce, because there would be nothing to prevent both sides from turning in to the court a list covering all the objections made by its opponents, and the lists would therefore remain unchanged indefinitely.

Registrar McKay deliberated on the matter for twenty-four hours. On Tuesday morning he gave his decision. The disfranchisement of a voter was a very serious matter, he said, and a responsibility he would not lightly incur. He had hoped the two parties would agree to a compromise, but he was satisfied, as the result of his experience in his own office within the past thirty days, that objections to the names of voters being retained on the list had been made frivolously and indiscriminately, and he had therefore, in view of the fact that he was satisfied the men on Mr. Love's list had voted at the Dominion election, decided not to consider the objections thereto, but to keep their names on the voters' list.

Of course, the Liberals will exercise their right of appeal from the registrar to a County Court judge. It is almost equally certain that when the matter comes before the higher court, Registrar McKay's decision will be reversed.

Meantime, Vancouver citizens have had another object-lesson as to the working out of the provincial election law, and the method of its administration by McBride officials. Seven hundred men, a large proportion of whom had from the worse sort of waterfront drinking dives, and of whom none have yet been located, are, in spite of defiance of the plainest provisions of the law, kept on the voters' list. This was done, at the request of the local organization of the party that keeps the provincial government in power, and the responsibility for the action rests with an official who in so doing undoubtedly obeyed instructions received from his superiors.

As a matter of fact, any proper revision of the present lists would be enormously costly and practically impossible. The present lists should not be revised—they should be destroyed. New provincial voters' lists for Vancouver, and for all other points in the province where there have been rapid increases and changes in population, are a necessity, and if the government does not realize this before the oncoming provincial elections, the fact should be forcibly impressed on them by the pressure of an insistent public opinion. In the making of the new lists, and in keeping them abreast of the changes in population, it may be well for the McBride government to bear in mind that in the event of public sentiment, of all shades and stripes of political opinion, will not stand for such gross and high-handed defiance of the law as that illustrated in this week's Court of Revision in Vancouver by Registrar McKay.

BRITISH WIRELESS AROUND THE WORLD

Government Will Subsidize
Marconi System to Girdle
The Planet

An early announcement may be expected that negotiations have been concluded between the Postmaster-General and the Marconi Company for the erection of a chain of wireless telegraph stations round the world, linking up all the British Dominions and giving Great Britain an independent system of telegraphic communication with any part of the globe.

So rapid has been the progress of wireless telegraphy during the past few months that the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company, who in July considered their financial resources equal to their business requirements, passed a resolution—but little over three months from date—to increase their capital by a quarter of a million sterling in order to cope with the recent extraordinary developments. The Marconi Company have already installations in practically every civilized country. Russia is at the present moment engaged upon a vast scheme for the development of her communication routes, and has decided to adopt the Marconi system for her army, navy, and postoffice.

But the most striking development—and one that is of the greatest importance to ourselves—is the scheme for linking up the Empire. At present secrecy is being preserved regarding the details of this scheme. Mr. Marconi and the Postmaster-General alone possess the details. Mr. G. C. Isaacs, the managing-director of the Marconi Company, in stating the need for the extra capital at the directors' meeting, was only able to give a hint regarding the government's intentions. We understand, however, that it has already been decided that the first chain of stations, which will extend outwards to New Zealand, will be as follows: England to Malta, Cyprus, Aden, Bombay, Colombo, Singapore, Perth, Adelaide, Sydney and Wellington. An extension of this system will be carried from Singapore to Hong Kong.

Although the home-made route has not yet been definitely determined it is proposed that there should be two routes to Africa, one on the East and an alternative one on the West coast. On the latter the service will be carried from England to the west coast via Bathurst, Sierra Leone, and St. Helena. On the East coast messages will travel from Aden to Mombasa and Durban, and so to Capetown.

India will also be connected with South Africa and Australia by stations at Mauritius and Nelson Island. The connection with the Western Hemisphere will be effected by means of the station already existing at Glace Bay, and it is proposed to establish another station at Montreal to communicate direct with the West Indies, where all the islands will be connected by short distance stations. Another station is projected for British Guiana. From Glace Bay it will be possible to communicate direct with Vancouver, where a large power-station is to be established which will provide direct communication with Hong Kong.

There are reasons for believing that this scheme may result in a flat rate of one penny per word throughout the Empire.

During an interview by a London Standard representative with the managing-director of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company, it was admitted that the Indian government are at this moment establishing wireless stations at numerous points throughout that vast country. By so doing they may not only develop their postal telegraphic service, but may possibly bring into action a scheme discussed by the late Professor J. J. Thomson with Mr. Marconi in 1904. This scheme suggested the use of wireless telegraphy for warning the Indian coastal provinces of the approach of the dreaded monsoons. Great loss of life and property is annually recorded through the ignorance of the approach of these storms.

The sale to the Empire of a wireless bond in time of war cannot be over-estimated. The cost of installation will be ridiculously small in comparison with the advantages to be obtained. It is calculated that 25 stations can be erected if necessary for £1,500,000—less than the cost of a super-dreadnought. Towards this the Overseas Dominions can be relied upon to contribute a part. The annual upkeep of 25 stations has been estimated at £200,000, and the earning capacity at £400,000.

THE SMOKE PROBLEM.

Professor Arnold, of Sheffield University, lecturing in Sheffield, said that if the authorities attempted to limit smoke and put this and that restriction upon steel the quality would be gone absolutely. If smoke was necessary to the industry it must be endured or the industry must go. Care must be taken not to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs. Sheffield manufacturers might inscribe on their banners the legend "No smoke, no steel."

In regard to the general smoke problem, Professor Arnold admitted it was highly desirable in the interests of health to reduce the smoke of the city to the utmost minimum, but at the same time he felt that there had been gross exaggeration in regard to the matter. It was a rather curious paradox that medical men were recommending the Brightside and Attercliffe districts of Sheffield, on account of the smoke, as sanatoria for asthmatic patients.

LOCAL NEWS

Trades and Labor Council.—The regular meeting of the Victoria Trades and Labor Council will be held to-morrow evening, when a number of matters of interest will come up, including the decision as to securing temporary premises for the unions till the new Labor Temple is built.

Suddenly Stricken.—On the eve of coming to Victoria to take up himself a bride, Leonard E. Earl, a prominent young barrister of Winnipeg, was suddenly stricken with appendicitis and is now in a critical condition. Mr. Earl was formerly a newspaperman in the prairie capital. He intended to leave for Victoria on Friday.

Will Be "At Home."—The Metropolitan church will be "at home" on Thursday evening to the new members of the church. All the members and adherents are invited. A special invitation to strangers and newcomers is extended. The Ladies' Guild will serve light refreshments at the close. The members of the Guild are requested to bring food supplies during the afternoon of Thursday.

Social Dance.—To-morrow evening the social dance, which was held on Saturday, November 11, by Court Victoria, A. O. F., and was postponed on account of the death of a member, Bro. Jackson, will take place. The programme will be as formerly arranged and all members of the order in the city are invited. Mrs. Adams, the well-known pianist, will furnish the music, and the customary refreshments of coffee and cake will be provided.

St. Andrew's Society.—Members of St. Andrew's and Celtic-American Society will meet to-night in Foresters' hall, Broad street, to transact business, and afterwards to enjoy a social time. Coffee, cake and smokes will be served and a musical programme has been arranged. Tickets for the society's annual dinner to be held in the Songhees Grill on St. Andrew's night are now available. Several excellent speakers have been identified their intention to be present. Of course the "haggle" will be duly honored and relished.

Peace Anticipated.—Peace between the operators and the employers at Fernie is anticipated by the end of the week. Matters have now reached that stage where the divided parties have formed the basis of a settlement. There have been no disturbances in Fernie recently. Superintendent Campbell, of the provincial police, went there immediately he received instructions from the provincial government and his presence on the scene has been effective. With the settlement in view by Saturday the men rest content that the outcome will be suitable to both parties.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL TO BE DISCUSSED

Meeting of School Board To-night to Arrange for Early Start Upon Construction

At the meeting of the school board which is scheduled for to-night it is possible that a step in advance will be made with the new high school project which has been on the tapis for some time. Of course the by-law has not yet been passed, but it is not expected that any difficulty will be encountered in that direction as the scheme has long been talked of and the necessity for the same has never been challenged.

Tenders were called a few weeks ago and a large number of contractors availed themselves of the opportunity to submit bids for the work. Out of the list the Island Construction Company emerged successfully and the contract was awarded to them providing the by-law passed the people. Since then nothing has been done in the matter, and people interested in seeing the scheme start upon the high road of realization are again beginning to exhibit a feeling of impatience at the delay.

As the present time the matter is in the hands of the architect, C. E. Watkins, and it is expected that to-night's meeting of the board a report will be forthcoming from this gentleman showing the exact condition of affairs. The price submitted by the Island Construction Company for the erection of the school, minus the fittings, was $285,000. Many alternative bids were submitted, but the Island Construction Company's bid was deemed the cheapest and most satisfactory under the circumstances. The electrical and other fittings were tendered upon separately, but these have not yet been taken up to-night.

Spring Ridge, the location of the proposed new high school, has every qualification for the honor about to be bestowed upon it. It is centrally enough situated to be easy of access from all parts of the city, and at the same time it preserves a comfortable distance from the business area.

MINISTER IS HERE

FROM MANITOBA

Hon. Hugh Armstrong Arrives in City—Member of Roblin Cabinet Since 1908

Hon. Hugh Armstrong, of Portage la Prairie, who has been a member of the Manitoba cabinet since the death of Hon. J. H. Agnew, in November, 1906, arrived in the city last evening from Nelson, accompanied by John O'Brien, also of Portage la Prairie. They came through with Premier Roblin's party to the Boundary country last week, and when Mr. Roblin returned with the majority of the Winnipeg business men who accompanied him to the Kootenays, Mr. Armstrong came on to the coast. They registered at the Empress hotel.

Mr. Armstrong, who is 57 years of age, was brought up in Carleton county, Ontario, although a native of New York. In 1883 he heard the call of the west, and came to Manitoba. He settled in Portage la Prairie in 1886, and was engaged in a large way of business in the fish export industry. In 1892 he entered the Manitoba legislature for Woodlands, and sat for that constituency till the federal dissolution of 1896, when he contested Selkirk against Mr. Macdonnell, and was beaten by a vote. He was elected for Portage at the by-election caused by the death of Mr. Garland in 1902, and re-elected in 1903 and 1907. On the death of the provincial treasurer, Mr. Agnew, in the fall of 1909, he became treasurer, an office he continued to hold till the redistribution of portfolios last month through Hon. Robert Rogers' appointment as minister of the interior, when the introduction of George Lawrence into the cabinet, the portfolios were rearranged.

It is gratifying to be able to say that the heavy winds prevailing during the night had no bad effect upon either the car or the passengers. The car was strong and the roads were good, and the rivalry thus engendered resulted in one of the party betting the chauffeur a "five spot" that he could not go up George road. The bet was accepted and the trip was made—but never again. And the chauffeur lost anyway, despite his moral triumph, for the party agreed by ballot (open and very corrupt) that the regulation speed of ten miles an hour had not been sustained.

The streets department of the city are doing all they can to cope with the situation, but of course the suddenness of the storm has rendered them incapable of affecting a remedy at all points at once. Offers have been made to supply sand and gravel to fill in many of the holes and make the more important thoroughfares more passable until such time as the corporation employees are in a position to apply a permanent remedy.

CLEARING SITE OF THE UNIVERSITY

DR. YOUNG SAYS MUCH PROGRESS BEING MADE

Minister Will Shortly Go East to Confer With Leading Educationists

There is no more enthusiastic man in British Columbia regarding the provincial university, which is to be an established fact within a couple of years than the minister of education, Hon. Dr. Young. While there is nothing about a tangible nature yet to testify to what the institution will be the minister is not idle, but has plans outlined in his office for a comprehensive university which shall be the equal of any on this continent. These, of course, he is not prepared to disclose just at present, beyond what he gave to the house last session.

The work of clearing the beautiful site at Point Grey has been going on for some time, and very good progress has been made. Dr. Young informed a Times reporter this morning. He reiterated the statement he made to the school trustees convention the other day, that it is his intention to open the classes at the beginning of the fall university term in 1915, no matter what the condition of advance of the buildings may be then.

As soon as the premier and his colleagues return from Ottawa, Dr. Young told the Times, it is his intention to take a trip east to confer with university authorities at various centres in regard to several matters of great importance. He desires to obtain further information of a practical and up-to-date kind before proceeding to the point of having building plans prepared. As the minister has already told the House, these are to be for a group of college buildings the most complete in every detail that will be found in this continent. All the modern courses will be provided for—arts, medicine, law, engineering, agriculture, architecture, domestic science and the rest. Dr. Young hopes to be in a position to present these plans to the legislature at its coming session.

BAD THOROUGHFARES RESULT FROM STORM

Many Vehicles Overturned in the Ditches and Roads Rendered Impassable

On account of the severe rainstorm which swept over the city last night, based on the heels of the recent heavy snowfall and "frostbite," the condition of the streets (unpaved) in certain sections of the city was deplorable, and such, in fact, as to cause a queue of complainants to tail off at the engineering department's door. The complaints were not confined to one issue, but embraced every possible kind of issue accessible with storms. But it is fairly safe to say that the greatest of these was mud. Many of the leading thoroughfares, on their extensions, and nearly all of the tributary streets, were in such a condition as to render vehicular traffic highly dangerous when not altogether impossible.

Among the worst places, from the mud point of view, were the Gorge road, Esquimalt road, and Topaz avenue, off Douglas street. Accompanied by two aldermen and a member of the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company, a Times representative this morning toured round the city and took in all the worst places. On Topaz avenue the worst inconvenience was occasioned by the condition of the street, and not a little criticism was offered. On Wilton street, which branches off Esquimalt road and rests on a steep incline, over a dozen vehicles were stuck in the mud during the morning. At many points the motor, in which the trip was made, took violent jerks and treated the occupants to impromptu bouncing turns.

The car was strong and the roads were good, and the rivalry thus engendered resulted in one of the party betting the chauffeur a "five spot" that he could not go up George road. The bet was accepted and the trip was made—but never again. And the chauffeur lost anyway, despite his moral triumph, for the party agreed by ballot (open and very corrupt) that the regulation speed of ten miles an hour had not been sustained.

The car was strong and the roads were good, and the rivalry thus engendered resulted in one of the party betting the chauffeur a "five spot" that he could not go up George road. The bet was accepted and the trip was made—but never again. And the chauffeur lost anyway, despite his moral triumph, for the party agreed by ballot (open and very corrupt) that the regulation speed of ten miles an hour had not been sustained.

The many friends of H. A. Green will regret to learn that he is confined to the house through illness.

REBELS ATTACK IMPERIAL TROOPS

FIGHT IN PROGRESS NEAR NANKING

Soldiers in Desperate Position—Gunboats on Way to Aid Revolutionists

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 14.—Provided with the arms and ammunition for which they have been waiting for several days the rebel forces began an attack on Nanking early to-day, according to cable advices received by the Chinese Free Press of this city. The advices say that the imperial forces have been driven to the Purple Hill and that their position is desperate.

The cable dispatch further says that thirteen war vessels captured recently by the rebels are on the way to Nanking to aid the land forces.

Go Over to Rebels.

Shanghai, Nov. 14.—Thirteen vessels of the imperial fleet went over to the rebels this morning, hoisting the white flag between 9 and 10 o'clock. One of the largest cruisers steamed up the river, past the settlement and dipped the white ensign in salute to the foreign warships, to which none of them responded.

Rebel Leader's Offer.

Pekin, Nov. 14.—10 p. m.—Optimism was the prevailing note to-day in government circles. This feeling was caused by the report that Prince Ching, the acting premier, had received a telegram from General Li Yuen-tung, commander of the rebel forces, saying he was prepared to treat for peace on certain terms and by the statement that the army divisions would agree to uphold the monarchial constitution and support Yuan Shi Kai, provided that the rebel leader's terms were those of the army.

CRUISER REPORTED SOLD TO CANADA

London, Nov. 14.—The Express states that the armored cruiser, Aboukir, launched in 1898 and having a displacement of 12,000 tons, leaves Malta about November 25 and it is stated she has been sold to the Canadian government.

MINERS VOTING ON WAGE AGREEMENT

Work Will Likely Be Resumed in Lethbridge Mines To-morrow

Lethbridge, Nov. 14.—The striking coal miners of district 16 will meet their various halls to-day for the purpose of taking a referendum vote on whether or not they will accept the agreement made by the scale committee, representing the miners and operators. Voting on the proposition began last evening and afternoon and will be finished some time to-day.

Word was received in the city that President W. B. Powell of the miners' union, would be in Coleman to-day for the purpose of taking up the question there and counting the votes, while other district officers will be in Lethbridge for the same purpose.

It was also given out that it is expected that full and complete count of all the miners will be given out sometime to-day and if the vote is favorable all of the miners in the district will go back to work at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning and that an effort will be made to hoist enough coal by Thursday noon to supply the need throughout the city.

TURKEY WILLING TO TREAT WITH ITALY

London, Nov. 14.—A special dispatch from Athens says several Constantinople telegrams received there that the Porte is disposed to treat with Italy with a view to peace.

It is now beginning to be admitted in Constantinople that Turkish troops and their allies, the Arabs in Tripoli, despite desperate attacks, have been everywhere repulsed with heavy losses and that prolonged resistance is useless.

SLACKENING OFF IN HOTEL BUSINESS

Bad Weather Responsible—Progress Upon New Hostelties is Handicapped

The hotels of the city have not been so empty for weeks past as they were during the recent week-end, and probably the cause may be set down to the bad weather, which kept all at home whom circumstances did not absolutely force to travel. This condition of affairs was reflected in the small passenger lists on the inter-city steamers. Meanwhile the provision of accommodation for the coming spring goes on apace, although the adverse weather has partially tied up building operations. Work is going on at the south wing of the Empress hotel, and much of the cribbing to receive concrete is already in position for the ground floor. The weather has had a detrimental effect on the progress of work at the Chalmers & Mitchell building on Yates street, which is to house an hotel, but here it is not expected the extra accommodation can be available till the spring.

Various delays on the new Prince George hotel on Douglas street will prevent opening practically till Christmas, according to the latest information, and as there is quite a quantity of interior fittings to be placed in position, apart from the furnishings, it seems at the present time impossible to expect the new hostelry to be in occupation before that time. There is little doubt it will fill as soon as it is open to the public, as the popularity of Victoria as a winter resort grows each season. In hotel circles it is rumored that the near future may witness the launching of another hotel scheme in the city of the first class, quite apart from the G.T.P. plans, but up to the present no positive information is available, and the promoters may wait to see how business at the new hotels and extensions of existing buildings warrants further ventures in the same field of enterprise, before commencing building operations on the site in view.

A LIBERAL OFFER

We Guarantee to Relieve Dyspepsia. If We Fail the Medicine Costs Nothing.

To unquestionably prove to the people that indigestion and dyspepsia can be permanently relieved and that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will bring about this result, we will furnish the medicine absolutely free if it fails to give satisfaction to any on using it.

The remarkable success of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets is due to the high degree of scientific skill used in devising their formula as well as to the care exercised in their manufacture, whereby the well-known properties of Bismuth-Subnitrate and Pepsin have been combined with Carminatives and other agents.

Bismuth-Subnitrate and Pepsin are constantly employed and recognized by the entire medical profession as invaluable in the treatment of indigestion and dyspepsia.

The Pepsin used in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets is carefully prepared so as to develop its greatest efficiency. Pepsin supplies to the digestive apparatus one of the most important elements of the digestive fluid. Without it the digestion and assimilation of food are impossible.

The Carminatives possess properties which aid in relieving the disturbances and pain caused by undigested food. This combination of these ingredients makes a remedy invaluable for the complete relief of indigestion and dyspepsia.

We are so certain of this that we urge you to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets on our own personal guarantee. Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies only at our store—The Rexall Store, D. E. Campbell, Druggist, corner Fort and Broad streets.

During the past week the building activity which has characterized Victoria throughout the present year was carried on with unabated vigor as may be gathered from a glance at the appended list of building permits issued by W. NEW YORK STRIKE

Serious Condition as Result of Trouble With Employees of Street Cleaning Department.

New York, Nov. 13.—If the garbage gatherers' strike is not broken today the health department will step in to save New York from the evil effects of some 4000 cartloads of refuse that has accumulated since the men who drive the street cleaning department wagons quit work because they objected to night hours.

Fear of the strikers and their friends has kept professional strikebreakers from accepting the high wages the city offers for substitutes.

Actually the health department intervened to-day when its men took out several hundred barrels of disinfectant to sprinkle on the piles of garbage in the poorer and more thickly populated districts.

Although yesterday's riots were the most extensive the police have had to cope with since the strike began, there were no casualties and few hospital cases, and the number of arrests has been remarkably small.

MAY DIE FROM INJURIES.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 13.—Because she disregarded her own safety to save the lives of an Indian and her day-old baby, Miss Nellie Francis, a cowgirl employed by a travelling "Wild West" show giving exhibitions here, is near death to-day at a local hospital.

Miss Francis, on foot, ran in front of a dozen or more frightened steers and buffaloes, which stampeded, following one of the panics and bore down on the ten in which the Indian woman and her baby lay. She turned the charge from the tent and was knocked down by a huge buffalo, and before rescuers reached here was badly injured. Her chance for recovery are said to be slight.

TWO END LIVES.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 14.—Oliver Carter and Mrs. George Muller, colored, aged about 30 years, committed suicide together in a Japanese lodging house on Washington street by closing the room tightly and turning on the gas.

A fire has been caused by rain at Ennis railway station. A West Clare railway wagon containing some unskinned line and other goods was completely destroyed, and the flames spread to other wagons, doing considerable damage.

THE NEW DISCOVERY BY ORVILLE WRIGHT

Initial Experiments With Gliders on Theory of Bird Flight

From recent experiments of the Wright brothers it would appear that the aeroplane does not embody the true secret of human flight. The glider does. Orville Wright has been spending several months in a lonely spot in North Carolina making experiments that it was supposed he and his brother had long ago discarded as elementary, and he briefly announced the other day that he had found the secret he had been searching for. The Wright brothers began with planes that merely soared against the wind; and it was only after months of experimenting that they added the motor and gave birth to the aeroplane of the twentieth century. Now they wish to discard the aeroplane again, and fly like the birds. Apparently they have made some headway, for last week Orville Wright soared in the air for ten minutes in a gliding machine that, had no motive power save that supplied by his own muscles. On alighting he remarked: "I could have sat up there ten hours just as easily as ten minutes. I have found what I wanted to find."

The new Wright glider is the same as the usual Wright aeroplane, as far as the frame is concerned. The wings and the rudder are the new features, and naturally some details of their construction are a secret jealously guarded by the inventors. The wings differ chiefly from the ordinary planes of aeroplanes in that they are movable, and are operated up or down at the aeronaut's pleasure by wires. One rudder is being used to tilt the glider up or down, the other turns it to right or left. Jutting from the front of the machine is a long pole, and on the end of it is a bag of sand weighing about eighty pounds. This is to correspond to the neck and head of the bird that the glider is intended to emulate. There is the usual seat, and instead of wheels there are skids on which the machine rests. The flight in the glider is begun as were the first flights of the inventors at Dayton, Ohio. Orville Wright seats himself in the machine at the top of a steep hill, and a couple of assistants rush down-hill, drawing the glider after them. Before they have gone a dozen feet the wind has caught the sails, and the machine soars out like a kite.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Press who saw the ten-minute flight writes: "Suddenly Orville flipped the right wing of the glider upward and the glider soared to a higher level, settling again to an even keel in obedience to a thrust of the horizontal tail. The vertical plane beside the aviator swung a trifle to the left and the glider took a sharp angle. A gale, apparently, is necessary to the success of the experiments, and also a steep hill, from which the aviator gets a start. Motor-driven aeroplanes, of course, are independent of these accessories, and the Wrights hope to invent a glider that can be started like a bicycle. Their intention is to establish flying schools in many cities, using the gliders exclusively, for they insist that the flying instinct is inborn in every person, and that it can be developed by the glider. Then, propellers, Orville Wright, 'everybody can fly. It will be like walking or swimming.'"

It is interesting to note that in recent years observations of birds' flight have tended to upset some previously held notions, and have given great encouragement to such experimenters as the Wrights. Looking at the duck cutting through the air at the speed of a racing automobile one gets one idea of flight. Looking at the gulls or the storks one gets another idea altogether. It seems to have been pretty thoroughly established that some of these birds fly for hours without flapping a wing. They soar up or down, to right or left, without the movement of a muscle. According to Lillenthal, a noted authority, storks do not flap their wings at all unless they are in a dead calm. If there is any wind, they glide. Some of them he observed remained absolutely motionless in one spot for several minutes. He noted that it was only a few old storks that had thus mastered the art, and that the youngsters made no attempt to perform this feat.

The swallow, albatross and the hawk all have this secret of soaring, which shorter-winged and heavier-bodied birds do not possess, and even among birds of the same species there are good flyers and bad flyers. Lillenthal thinks that once we understand the right shape of wing and its proper position we can manufacture something that will serve the human being as well as the wing serves the stork. Wind, too, is necessary, but there is always wind, just as there is always air. If not in one stratum it can be found higher up or lower down. The secret is one that Orville Wright claims to have found.

At the London hospital a verdict of death by misadventure was returned in the case of Mrs. Elizabeth Diamond, 35, wife of a house decorator. Mrs. Diamond scratched her arm on a lilac bush. Later she became ill and was seized with a fit, followed by convulsive spasms. Her jaw became fixed, and she died from exhaustion supervening on lockjaw.

For arguing that our world is only one of many Giordano Bruno was burned to death in Rome in 1600.
